

Business license fee plan vetoed by mayor

A newly-passed city ordinance that would have extended hundreds of multiple fees against local businesses was vetoed Tuesday night by Mayor Paul Schuler.

The ordinance was enacted by a 9 to 1 vote during the March 19 council session and was followed by widespread objections from business operators and others affected by the bill, including ministers and nurses and others in the medical field.

As the first item of business in a regular City Council session, the mayor read a veto message in which he said that the licensing bill as it was then drawn "imposes license fees on wage earners in addition to businessmen."

The mayor's veto message said:

"I have decided to veto the licensing ordinance and I am requesting the city inspector to prepare a new ordinance for submission. Our present licensing ordinance needs updating both from the categories covered and the license fees charged. However, the proposed ordinance that I am vetoing imposes license fees on wage earners in addition to businessmen and in this inflationary time creates hardships."

"Since I do not possess the power of an amendatory veto to exclude these classes of licensees, I am compelled to veto the entire ordinance. I ask that you concur in this entire matter."

Council members approved unanimously a motion by Alderman Michael Modrusic to concur in the veto.

Although the mayor's veto resolved the problems over questionable aspects of the ordinance, permission to speak from the audience was given Paul Sodko, chairman of the taxation committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, who read a letter stating the Chamber's stand on the licensing bill. The letter set out a number of examples of multiple licensing possible under the bill.

The letter asked the city to delay the approval of the ordinance until questions raised by affected parties could be answered. Although Sodko noted that the veto was adequate response, the letter was filed with City Clerk Robert Stevens.

Mayor Schuler told the council that he had instructed City Inspector Emerald Dawes to prepare a new ordinance proposal to be submitted to the council.

Among other effects of the measure, the ordinance provided for the licensing of radio, TV and newspaper reporters. Only brief discussion was given the mayor's veto action.

Alderman Everett Morlen of the First Ward said that several years ago he had asked the Chamber of Commerce for input in a new business licensing proposal, but that nothing was done at that time.

"I am in favor of a licensing bill that will require a fair license fee to be paid by legitimate business firms," Morlen said.

Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward said he considered the bill that was to be vetoed was "strictly a revenue measure."

Inflation hits trash disposal bids

Garbage and trash collections in Granite City during the next three years could cost the city more than double what it paid for such service during the present three-year contract that expires May 1, it was disclosed at a

City Council meeting Tuesday night. A series of four bids for the new garbage collection contract, opened by the council's Finance Committee Tuesday, consisted of offers ranging from a total of $2,497,036 to $2,951,050 for the three-year period through the 1982-83 fiscal year.

These compare with the present contract costing a total of $1,254,875 for the period 1977-78 through 1979-80. The present contract is held by the Milam-

East Division of SCA Services.

Council members took no action to award a new contract during the Tuesday meeting, agreeing to refer the bids to the Finance Committee after Alderman Paul R. Bowler, Finance chairman, told them, "We'll have to bid on this and see what else we can do."

Bids submitted were: Browning Ferris Industries of St. Louis, $890,000 for the 1980-81 year, with 15 percent increases during the following two years. This would make the cost $977,500 during the second year and $1,175,500 the third year for a three-year cost of $2,951,050.

Bi-County Disposal, Belleville, $841,872 the first year with 5 percent increases the second and third years. This would cost $885,871 the second year and $928,064 the third year or a total of $2,653,717 for the three years.

R.D. Johnson, Godfrey, $798,000 the first year with 4 percent increases the following two years. This would amount to $829,320 the second year and $869,116 the third year, for a total of $2,497,036.

Milam-East Division of SCA, $826,225 the first year with 12 percent increases the second and third years. This would amount to $925,362 the second year and $1,036,305 the third year for a total of $2,787,892 for the three year life of the contract.

The present contract held by Milam-East provided for $398,000 the first year (1977-78) and 5 percent increases in 1978-79 and 1979-80, or $417,900 and $438,975 respectively, for a total three-year cost of $1,254,875.

Bowler told the council he could not understand the reason for the great increase in cost over that of the previous contract.

Census day approaching

Census forms will arrive at local homes tomorrow and are to be mailed back on Tuesday, April 1 with answers accurate as of Census Day—April 1. Officials say every census has posed logistical problems since the very first, in 1790, when census takers had to provide their own paper and writing instruments and often risked life and limb traveling the wooded countryside.

The 1980 census presents an even greater challenge than the first or any other census, they add.

Never has the population been more numerous, and there is an unprecedented commitment to achieve a complete count in 1980 due to the increased importance of census data, which during the past decade has become the basis of allocating $50 billion annually in federal programs.

An estimated 222 million U.S. residents and 86 million housing units must be enumerated within a matter of weeks; the resulting 3.3 billion answers on census questionnaires must be reviewed, organized, and prepared for tabulation. And as much as 300,000 pages of census findings must be quickly calculated and released.

The delivery of a census questionnaire to every housing unit in the nation tomorrow, March 28, by mail will be the culmination of an enormous undertaking.

Overpass bonds voted

By HARRY BARNES of the Press-Record

Two ordinances authorizing the sale of $2,590,000 worth of general obligation bonds to complete the financing for the proposed 19th Street overpass were approved by the Granite City Council Tuesday night.

Passage of the bond measures followed announcement by Mayor Paul

Schuler that he had received two proposals for the purchase of the bonds, and that Chapman & Cutler, the city's bond attorneys, had recommended the bonds be sold to Clayton Brown & Associates, Chicago investment firm, as the best offer.

While both ordinances contain provisions for tax levy extensions as required by state law, the tax levies will not be extended, City Attorney Lance Callis explained to the aldermen. The bills provided for the abatement of funds to pay the principal and interest on the bonds from sources other than by tax extensions.

One ordinance provides for the issuance of $1.7 million in bonds that will be retired with funds provided by

Economic development will be stressed

By KARL L. MONROE of the Press-Record

The Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, based at 203 W. Main St. in Collinsville, will soon be taking on a new role, assistance to cities and Chambers of Commerce in industrial and business development.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler is the chairman of SIMAPC.

The Illinois legislature has mandated that the agency set up the Southwest Illinois Council on Economic Development. Under guidelines of the Economic Development Administration in the U.S. Department of Commerce, it will be a 22-member body.

Mike Boer, development program manager of SIMAPC, said 95 percent of the members will be "from the private sector." Increasingly, SIMAPC itself has been governed by public officials.

Boer told the Metro-East Chambers of Commerce Association Monday night that since 1971, SIMAPC has been seeking designation as an economic development district by the federal government. This would make it possible to secure federal funds to finance the efforts.

He commented, "We are close to it now."

Boer reviewed the 20-year history of SIMAPC. It began operation in the Collinsville water treatment plant and has grown to a staff of 60.

The first thrust was research and areawide land use planning. Then it moved into "grantsmanship," securing

Dymas petitions OK

By MICK STRANGE of the Press-Record

Relying on information from what he termed a "personal source," Gary Novich of Madison wrote and delivered a letter Tuesday afternoon to the secretary of the Madison Board of Education calling for Board President Sam Dymas's name to be stricken from the April 12 ballot.

But school officials checked and verified Wednesday that Dymas' nominating petitions contain an adequate number of valid signatures. He, therefore, will remain a ballot candidate for reelection.

Novich said he had received a copy of a 55-signature petition Dymas filed on Feb. 27, and contended that up to eight signatures were in error.

Fifty signatures are required to be on the ballot.

What Novich and his source did not realize when he wrote the letter Tuesday was that Dymas on March 10 filed a supplemental petition to the first one with another 14 signatures, making a total of 69 signatures.

There is no limit on the number of names a candidate may file. The

Grant for fire vehicle

A highway safety grant has been awarded to Granite City to purchase a fully-equipped emergency rescue vehicle for the Fire Department, it was announced at Springfield Tuesday by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Fire Chief Don Parente said the rescue vehicle will be located at the main fire station, 23rd Street and Madison Avenue. Granite City is the only full-time emergency service operation in the southwest portion of Madison County.

Cost of the rescue truck is estimated at $40,000, of which 75 percent will be funded by the federal grant in the form of a reimbursement to the city.

Chief Parente said the vehicle is needed to provide adequate emergency rescue service to the residents of Granite City and Madison County. The present vehicle is too small to carry the minimum equipment required by state regulations, he said.

Federal funds for highway safety projects were made available to the state of Illinois under the Highway Safety Act of 1966 and are administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Traffic Safety.

Emergency rescue technicians will staff the vehicle. Eight certified ERTs are currently employed by the Granite City Fire Department. Two ERT courses will be offered by Belleville Area College during the current academic year.

Smith layoffs

Layoffs of 300 employees became effective Wednesday at the A. O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant in Granite City, reducing the active staff to about 850.

"The company was notified Tuesday of another significant reduction in its customers' orders for 1980 frames," a spokesman said.

"Consequently, it is necessary that we cut back our production levels commensurate with the reduction in results in the indefinite layoff of approximately 300 employees effective March 26."

"Unfortunately, this reduction in orders comes at a time when our inventory of finished frames is quite large, considering that we are in the

15 on dismissal list

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

After carefully weighing arguments against the honorable dismissal of 15 Granite City teachers, the Board of Education voted unanimously Tuesday night to send dismissal notices to the 15, with the hope positions can be found for them before the start of the next school year.

The decision was made during a 90 minute executive session which followed the school board meeting and a one hour and 25 minute public hearing on the proposed dismissals.

School administrators contended the notices of honorable dismissal were necessary, due to declining student enrollments and a state requirement that teachers be notified in March (at least 60 days prior to the end of the spring term), if they are not going to be rehired in the next school year.

Grassroots government

Madison School Board 6:30 p.m. today at 1707 Fourth St.
Venice School Board 7:30 p.m. today at 7th-Broadway.

The board's action was despite a statement by Raymond Freark, attorney for Local 743 of the American Federation of Teachers, that the dismissal of teachers, including tenured teachers, is "tearing your faculty apart and destroying the morale of the teachers. It cannot help but having a negative effect on the teaching function of the teachers."

Freark said the salaries of the 15 teachers represent far less than one percent of the district's $20 million annual budget, and the negative effects of the dismissals far outweigh the financial benefits.

"You got trouble, right here in Granite City. The district needs peace. The teachers need peace. The teaching requires it," Freark stated at the public hearing.

Superintendent of Schools B.J. Davis told the gathering, "My unhappy task this evening is to recommend to the Board of Education the honorable dismissal of certain teaching staff. My recommendations are based upon enrollment projections for the 1980-81 school year."

Davis said the state law requiring notification of teachers to be dismissed 60 days before the close of the school year necessitates honorable dismissal of teachers who are likely to be rehired. "Teachers who resign or retire are not required to act until usually June 30, and, of course, we will not know our actual enrollment until next September."

"It is indeed unfortunate that this type of statutory schedule exists, because it is disruptive of teacher morale, but we must abide by the law, despite its harmful effects," he added.

He also said the dismissals were those with the lowest seniority, except

Bridge-building river boats ready for tests here

The Army is ready to competitively test and evaluate American and British made boats in the swift currents of the Mississippi River at Granite City. The tests will be conducted during the next two months to determine which boat best meets requirements associated with the Army's Ribbon Bridge.

The American-made craft undergoing testing and evaluation is manufactured by the Aluminum Company of America (Alcoa).

high pressure through hydroports. During the Mississippi River "fast water" evaluation program, the craft will undergo technical and functional testing.

Each of the craft to be evaluated has a three-man military crew consisting of an operator and two assistant operators.

These standard boats are 27 feet long with an 8-foot beam and a 41-inch draft. They are powered by twin 3-53 Detroit Diesel engines that propel the craft up to 16 miles per hour.

The U.S. Army Troop Support and Aviation Material Readiness Command, based in St. Louis, will be providing the U.S. Army Test and Evaluation Command with the local support required to conduct the testing program.

Steven Demaree, 76, dies

Steve Spiro Demaree, 76, of 1643 Maple St., a retired painter, died at 3:30 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He had worked as a painter and fire inspector for the former Union Starch and Refining Co., and Miles Laboratories for 36 years prior to his retirement in 1968.

Born in Resin, Yugoslavia, Mr. Demaree came to this area to make his home in 1920.

He was a member of St.

Joseph Roman Catholic Church. Mr. Demaree had been a patient in the hospital for one day.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Teresa (Seifert) Demaree; one son, Richard Demaree, and a daughter, Mrs. William (Dorothy) Lerner, both of Granite City; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday. Details are given in the obituary column.

Currently, the Army uses what is known as a standard two-piece riveted aluminum craft in conjunction with the Ribbon Bridge.

Unlike the American craft, which is driven by propellers, the British use jets of water propelled at

Up to 17 miles per hour. The British craft is also a one-piece welded aluminum boat, 25 feet long with an 8-foot beam and a draft of 22 inches. It is powered by two Sabre Marine 212 turbocharged diesel engines and attains speed up to 25 miles an hour.

An assortment of meat was stolen from a freezer in the garage at the home of Gary Wigger, 4028 Melrose Ave., between 10:30 a.m. Tuesday and 6:25 a.m. Wednesday. Power tools including a skill saw and sabre saw also were taken.

Also scheduled to participate in a separate program under the direction of the Army Training and Doctrine Command are soldiers from the 522nd Engineer Company from Fort Knox, Ky.

Currently, this unit has 20 Ribbon Bridge transporters, 10 internal Ribbon Bridge bays, four ramp bays, 6 boat cradles and 4 standard

Effort to amend budget deferred

A move by the Granite City Council to amend the city's federal revenue sharing fund was blocked by a deferral motion by Alderman Charles Douglas, who said he objected to a switch in the use of street department funds.

The budget amendment was prepared to revise the use of Entitlement II funds expected April 1. These included the addition of $60,000 to the budget for new police cars and addition of $50,000 to the public safety department payroll.

The budget amendment ordinance was presented following a public hearing held Tuesday night prior to the council session. The bill was placed on final passage by a suspension of rules.

Douglas, however, said he questioned the elimination of $10,000 for purchase of a clam shell for the street department, although the $10,000 was changed to the purchase of tandem trucks for the same department.

Douglas asked who had prepared the amendment ordinance. Dave Nolan, administrative assistant to Mayor Paul Schuler, said he had put the figures together and had submitted the ordinance form to City Attorney Lance Callis, who approved it.

The alderman then moved to defer action on the bill, a motion that automatically would prohibit further action on the matter in that particular council meeting.

Callis ruled, however, that the deferral motion was out of order because the suspension of rules motion still was on the floor.

In a roll call vote, the aldermen approved the suspension of rules motion. Douglas repeated his deferral motion, which was recognized. The matter is expected to be considered again at next Tuesday's regular meeting.

Rudolph Beber, 68, dies here

Rudolph "Rudy" Beber, 68, of 1831 Spruce St., who had been ill with a heart ailment, died at 1:15 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he had been admitted two and a half hours earlier.

Mr. Beber was born in Starford, Pa., and had resided in East St. Louis, before moving to this area 30 years ago.

Survivors include a brother, Carl Charles Beber, Houston, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. Victor (Joine) Saska, Washington Park, Mrs. John (Helen) Dyonovich and Mrs. Charles (Anna) Bausch, both of East St. Louis.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. today at a Fairview Heights funeral home. Burial was in Lakeview Memorial Gardens, Belleville.

THEFT FROM HOME Linda Constant, 1637 Spruce St., reported at 4 p.m. Monday that her home was entered while she was gone during the past two weeks. A hanging lamp in the living room and a typewriter were taken. The lamp was valued at $95. Entry was gained through a basement window.

Sues school board

The parents of a girl injured on the playground of Frohardt School April 6, 1979, have filed a two-count lawsuit in Madison County Circuit Court against the Granite City Board of Education.

Thomas Williams filed the suit on behalf of his daughter, Christie, who was 10 years old when she fell from the monkey bars and broke her right wrist. One count, seeking in excess of $15,000, alleges unsafe playground equipment. The second count, for an equal amount, alleges a lack of proper supervision for the children.

County investments earn $1.3 million

The final disbursements from taxes collected last year by Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus will be made tomorrow and Henkhaus says the county has balanced the books "to the penny" for the third consecutive year.

The county collected $70,347,137 for the last fiscal year and made over $1.3 million on investments by the treasurer.

A total of $1,340,559 interest was received during the fiscal year, and there were other funds collecting interest during the year which paid their dividends after Nov. 31, the end of the fiscal year.

Henkhaus said the income from county investments was slightly lower last year than in the previous fiscal year, primarily because bond funds for the county jail and the new sanitary sewers in the Quad-City area bolstered the funds available for investment in 1978. Henkhaus said he had 18 percent fewer funds available to invest last year than in the year before, when $3,162,675 more was available.

The total funds available for investment last year were $14,756,917, compared to $17,919,592 in the previous fiscal year.

Henkhaus said he believes he made progress in his first full fiscal year in control of the treasurer's office. "When I took office, 82 percent of the county's idle money was being invested. At the end of the year, I had 92 percent invested."

"One of my main jobs is to get the best interest rate available and invest as much money as possible into interest-bearing accounts. I believe I have done that well since I took office Dec. 1, 1978," the treasurer said.

"I also am proud that we were able to balance out to the penny each year since I took office. Quite a few counties have been unable to do that," he added.

Madison County Circuit Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell also has issued a report on projected earnings of his department for the fiscal year which ended Nov. 31. Portell noted his department had about $615,000 invested in 11 banks during the 1978-79 fiscal year. He anticipated earnings from investments will total $49,953.

Portell said he considers higher interest rates one of the major factors in the higher earnings last year. He also said he feels the other major factor was, "We just did a darn good job. I have good people here."

In the 1976-77 fiscal year, Portell's office earned $21,288 from investments and that total grew to $22,728 in the 1977-78 fiscal year. The 1978-79 fiscal year total was a $27,227, or a 22 percent increase over the previous year.

Four-day school week is possible in energy crisis

Energy, and a potential lack of it, were discussed by the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night, along with a policy which would allow a four-day school week in the event of an energy crisis.

A policy giving the superintendent, or a person he authorizes, the power to declare an energy crisis and a four-day school week was among the policies adopted by the board.

The exact days school would operate would be determined at the time the emergency is declared, according to the policy.

The two high schools and Coolidge Junior High School would hold classes from 7:30 a.m. to 3:50 p.m. Prather and Grigsby Junior high schools would have classes from 8 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., if an energy crisis was declared.

Elementary schools would have classes from 8:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., four days a week, in such a crisis.

Salaried teachers would not have their pay cut and substitute teachers would be compensated for the lost day by having their pay increased by 20 percent for each day they teach during four-day weeks.

In order to help avoid an energy crisis, the school board voted to hire Willard Givens & Associates, engineers, and Henry Gabriel, architect, to conduct an energy audit of the district's buildings and to recommend energy-saving changes.

Such an energy audit is required to apply for federal matching funds or to use the five-cent life safety tax levy for energy conservation projects.

Only after completion of all life safety improvements—and the energy audit of all buildings—could proceeds from the life safety tax be used for energy improvements.

Suggested projects could include new windows, new roofs with better insulation, temperature control work and other energy-saving improvements.

The federal government has pledged to continue annual allocations of energy funds until 1983, Ronald Andaman, maintenance supervisor for the school district, told the board.

He suggested the district attempt to have the energy audits of the school buildings completed by June, when the next allocation of federal funds is to be completed, even though it is doubtful the life-safety work could be completed in time for the school district to qualify for a June grant.

FIRE NEAR BUILDING

Cardboard boxes at the fire of Townsend TV, 2712 Nameoki Rd., were set on fire at 10:35 p.m. Tuesday, but a policeman patrolling nearby saw the fire in time to avoid damage to the building. Granite City firemen extinguished the fire.

He said Gabriel and the Givens firm have done most of the district's life safety work and would already have much of the information they need to complete the energy survey.

Board members voted unanimously to give the administration authority to hire the architect and engineer, if an agreeable rate for the services can be negotiated.

The board also voted to earmark funds from the recent sale of McKinley School to the bond and interest fund for capital improvements.

The money will be used for new roofs and repairs and replacements of boilers, board members agreed. Superintendent of Schools

B.J. Davis told the board, "If such action is not taken, then the money will be deposited into the building fund and used for current operating expenses, thus losing an opportunity to make some needed capital improvements."

McKinley School was sold at auction Jan. 25 to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for $200,000. From that amount, $85 was paid for legal publications announcing the auction and $100 was paid to auctioneer Homer Henke. The remaining $199,865 was mailed March 18 to the school district and has been received, the board was told.

One project approved from the building fund was remodeling work at Granite City High School North to

A contract was awarded to Rule Construction Co., Inc. for $8,340 to do the work. Rule was the lowest of six bidders on the project.

Teachers

in areas where special qualifications were needed, such as in special education.

Freark's statement at the public hearing followed Davis' remarks. Freark said he filed a lawsuit against the school district because the teachers "could not imagine any basis for these layoffs," and wanted to see if there were more funds available to retain the teachers.

After three days of discovery hearings, the teachers concluded "there is no economic justification, in our opinion, for the dismissals," Freark stated.

He also contended the district has consistently, over the last five years, budgeted about $1 million more than it has spent and has projected fund deficits far higher than the actual deficits were.

When tax anticipation warrants have been issued, the district had other investments more than sufficient to cover the borrowing, Freark said. He noted that one year, $1,600,000 for a short period and paid about $15,000 in interest. However, investments in other funds, including the contingency fund, for the same period yielded $71,061, he contended.

"We do not consider that a serious economic problem. The district made substantial investments in its investments in short-term borrowing, than it paid in short-term borrowing."

"I think the average citizen and average teacher believe that if you have $1 million borrowed at one bank, and $1 million invested in another bank, you are not in serious financial condition," he added.

He also noted that the $900,000 to $1,000,000 the district projects it will borrow at the end of this fiscal year is a "substantially smaller" amount than in previous fiscal years. A memo from Pully A. Heubner, director of business affairs for the school district, to the administrators confirmed that the district expects to be in better financial condition at the end of this fiscal year than in previous years, Freark said.

He said he reviewed the district's projections of the amount of state aid it will receive in the next fiscal year and then contacted the office of the state superintendent of public instruction (OSPI). While the district estimated it would receive from $8,765,716 to $9,000,000, according to which formula is selected by the legislature, the figures the OSPI gave Freark ranged from $8,130,582 to $10,460,000.

The differences between the school district's estimates of state aid income and the figures obtained by Freark were more than enough to cover the salaries of the 15 teachers, the attorney contended.

He concluded by saying that the district has a two-year working agreement with the teachers and dismissal of any of the teachers could be construed as violating the terms of the agreement.

"The contract calls for 630 teachers in the district... and we agreed that might be reduced by natural attrition only. The teachers were not to be laid off with the first year of the two-year contract, but they are going to live with it, because that's what they agreed to. We think the school district should do the same thing," he said.

School Board Members disagreed with Freark's contention that a lawsuit was required before the district would open its financial books to the teachers. "The books have always been open to the public," Board Member Steve Salitch stated.

Board Member Monroe Worthen contended Freark's figures on the district's net worth included taxes which had not yet been received and could not be counted. "It is an illusion, since all those receivables cannot be collected for a year and a half, Worthen said.

Freark contended, "That's why the state lets you anticipate (borrow). Those taxes are as good as gold." He also said the district has nearly $5 million worth of borrowing power in any one fiscal year.

Board Member David Partney stated, "You don't look at it as school district as a business. We and the public do. We are not the largest employers in Granite City. We have to anticipate laying off teachers, whether we will or not. It's a law," Partney said.

Bill Smith, a citizen in the audience, addressed the board, saying he wonders whether the teachers "are on edge and nervous because they are afraid the educational system will be harmed or only their own livelihoods." He said other workers worry about keeping their jobs. "Why not the teachers too?"

"It seems to me the real purpose of building and maintaining these schools is not to provide jobs. The education of the children is first."

"State law is hampering the board from maintaining local control. I believe the decision should be up to the board and the board should explain more to the public on its decision," Smithson contended.

Harold Baker, attorney for the school board, contended the district's financial records, including the audit, were not given to the teachers simply because, "They didn't come get them. They had to request them."

He also said he did not feel the teachers have a right to criticize the budget or its preparation because at the public hearing in the budget, "None of them were there to complain."

He said the audits of the district's books, the most recent accounting firm in the state showed the books for the last several years have been accurate. "There hasn't been one critical audit in the past five years on the books of Mr. Heubner's budgetary practices," Baker stated.

"Despite all of this hue and cry, not once have we gotten a concrete suggestion (on the budget) from the other side. It is easy to criticize, but it is harder to put it together," he added.

He agreed Heubner's financial projections have overestimated expenditures by about $1 million per year, but $300,000 of the difference is the contingency fund, which has not been hidden. "It's as obvious as the nose on my face," Baker said.

He said some overstatement may have been designed to guarantee that the district continue to receive the maximum tax rate, which he recommended against, but added, "I'm not saying there is anything wrong with that. He said we were too many. Variables included the replacement for the corporate personal property and the state aid formula, federal aid and other income."

"We have no crystal ball," Baker said. He also said that Freark's contention that investments in one fund can be used to pay for deficits in another fund is in error. "Mr. Heubner properly concluded we can't repay tax warrants except with taxes," Baker stated and contended there are court rulings to support that.

"Tulley (Heubner) is properly managing your cash," he stated.

Detailed financial items brought out at the hearing followed during the board's executive session before the decision to send the notices of probable layoff to the 15 teachers. News reporters were allowed to attend the executive session "to protect the interests of the public and the teachers," Baker said.

The closed session and a brief public session which followed did not conclude until nearly 11:30 p.m.

Census

evaluating the numerous questions proposed for inclusion in the 1980 census and to testing the various ways to word those selected.

In order to have the questionnaires available for packaging and shipping, printing plants in Arizona, California and New Jersey had to begin working around the clock in the spring of 1979 to produce the necessary 164 million questionnaires, at a cost of five cents apiece. The six-month printing job required 5,000 tons of paper and 85 tons of ink.

Staffing is another challenge. During just a few months in 1980, the Bureau of the Census has had to recruit about 270,000 temporary employees, train and equip them, and supervise their efforts to collect accurate data.

Thousands of census employees needed office space. The Census Bureau opened 400 strategically located district offices with a total of nearly four million square feet of office space, roughly that of the Empire State Building. To economize, the bureau used vacated school buildings or military facilities whenever possible.

Offices, in turn, need furnishings, but leasing furniture or trucking it in on loan from other government agencies is increasingly expensive. The bureau again resorted to cardboard furniture, including 65,000 fire-resistant cardboard desks, a money-saving measure used widely during the prior census.

The local district office is at 218A W. Main St., Belleville (phone 277-0180). Ron Randolph is in charge there. For the theme is "We're counting on you." Answer the census — the bureau ordered 228,000 dozen lead pencils — the equivalent of a pencil 345 miles long.

The inventory of the Census Bureau in coping with logistical problems has long been evident in the realm of data-processing. In 1940, for instance, the bureau contracted for the first commercial computer in the world.

For 1960, the bureau has designed and constructed automatic microfilming cameras that will photograph the answered questionnaires as they whiz past on a vacuum conveyor belt at the speed of 7.5 feet per second. That operation will require 5,000 miles of microfilm.

The bureau's engineers have also built optical scanners that will "read" the answers on microfilm and transmit them at the speed of light by telecommunications to the bureau's computers.

The system has been designed to assure that no names, addresses, or telephone numbers ever enter any computer.

Big strides in tabulating data have been made by the bureau over the years. A former census employee developed the first electrical tabulator for the 1980 census, capable of handling 200 items of information in a minute, and it seemed a marvelous machine.

For the 1980 census, the Bureau will use a computer capable of processing 45 million characters in the same amount of time.

Publishing all the census data is another massive undertaking, made easier and more economical by devices such as a photocopier, which actually composes a full page of tabulations straight from the computer in just 15 seconds at a cost of $1.50 per page.

Census logistics have always involved big numbers, but the number the bureau is proudest of is small — in fact, it's zero. Despite the scope of the census, not one of the history of the modern confidentiality laws, enacted in 1929, has the Bureau been seriously accused of releasing census information about a specific individual to any person or other government agency.

The bureau has used modern data-processing methods to safeguard, rather than threaten, the personal privacy of census information. How will the 1980 census be taken in this area?

The Bureau of the Census has designated two basic methods for enumerating the population living in households. A number of other methods will be used to count people who do not live in traditional household settings. One of the two basic methods for enumerating households will be used here — the "Mail-out, mail-back" method.

The "conventional" method will be used in western (non-coastal) states. MAIL-OUT, MAIL-BACK AREAS — Questionnaires addressed to these households will be in the mail on March 28. A responsible person should answer all the questions and mail back the form on April 1, in an enclosed, postage-free envelope.

For a sample of households, chosen randomly, the census form will contain additional questions.

Households that do not return a completed form will be contacted by census takers, by phone or in person, to obtain the necessary information. More than 90 percent of the nation's households will be asked to cooperate with this method.

CONVENTIONAL AREAS — Out west, many households will receive their unaddressed questionnaires in the mail on March 28. All questionnaires there should be completed and held until picked up by a census taker during the next three weeks. At a sample of households, census takers will ask additional census questions. The conventional method will cover about 10 percent of the nation's households, mainly in sparsely settled areas.

How about other situations? COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES —

Students living on or near campus away from home are enumerated. These students attending college and living at home are counted with the family household.

Before April 1, census enumerators will obtain lists of rooms and/or persons living in campus housing and will distribute census materials to college administrators, which are to be distributed in early April.

Students will complete individual census forms, which will be picked up a few days later by an enumerator. Sorority, fraternity, and rooming houses will also be enumerated.

INSTITUTIONS (HOSPITALS, PRISONS, ETC.) — In hospitals and prisons (excluding short-stay institutions), orphanages, and nursing homes, census takers will distribute individual census forms to each resident in early April, and will collect the completed forms a few days later.

Persons unable to complete the form will be interviewed by an enumerator. Staff personnel living on institutional grounds will also be covered.

HOTELS, MOTELS AND CAMPGROUNDS — On the morning of Tuesday, April 1, persons staying at hotels, motels, campgrounds, tourist homes and similar temporary residences will find packets containing individual census forms and instructions attached to their doors, vehicles or tents. The packets will have been distributed the evening before ("T" or "transient" night).

BUS STATIONS, JAILS, MISSIONS, ETC. — On the evening of April 6 ("M" or "Mission" night), enumerators will visit missions, flophouses, train and bus stations, all-night movies and live shows, and city or county jails where the usual stay is 30 days or less. Census takers will obtain the necessary information through personal interviews.

POOL HALLS, STREET PEOPLE, ETC. — A special "casual count" will be conducted in central cities of metropolitan areas. Pool halls, employment offices, food stamp centers, welfare offices, and bus or train stations not included in the census count. These places will be visited by pairs of census takers beginning about May 6.

These census takers will ask people whether they live in the city and have been counted on a household census form. Census takers will interview only those who live in the city and have not been counted.

MILITARY BASES — Military barracks personnel and others in group quarters are considered residents of the area in which they are stationed. A project officer will see that military census forms (different only in format from the questionnaire used for households) are distributed shortly before April 1. Persons on ships will also be enumerated.

NATIVE AMERICANS — Eskimos, Aleuts, and American Indians living on reservations will be enumerated by the conventional method. They also will be asked to complete a supplementary questionnaire containing questions on tribal affiliation, school enrollment, length of residence on the reservation, and access to a health care facility.

OVERSEAS — TRAVELERS — Americans traveling overseas who do not have someone to include them on census forms at home will be asked to complete an overseas traveler's report, to be distributed through ship owners and airline companies.

LIVING OVERSEAS — Citizens and military personnel living overseas are not counted in the U.S. population.

FOLLOW-UP ACTIVITIES — Newspapers, radio and television messages will urge anyone in mail-out, mail-back areas who has not returned a census form to do so and will provide addresses and phone numbers of district census offices for assistance.

After April 15, census enumerators will telephone or visit households that have not returned completed forms. Community groups will support district census offices and local officials in carrying out this effort. "Were you counted?" effort.

final months of the 1980 model year. Peak employment at the local plant exceeded 2,000 at one time.

It has been a high volume, high quality producer of auto frames for standard size cars and trucks, and is selling well due to higher gasoline costs and the related trend toward small cars.

Other factors affecting new car sales include their rising purchase price and the nearly unprecedented level of interest rates.

Economic development

"money for municipal services. In the early to mid-70s, the SIMAPC executive committee decided its most important role should be retaining jobs and broadening the tax base, he related.

This included marketing data, providing data to businesses, and promotional materials. One reason SIMAPC felt called upon to get into this was that nobody else was doing it, the group was told.

Harry Button, Greater Alton Association of Commerce manager, recalled that the former Illinois Metro East group's effort to secure the industry was blunted by lack of funding and finally was abandoned.

SIMAPC is in a good position to assume this new role because it has already made many of the statistical studies and has a growing data bank on the area, it was noted.

Boer said it is hoped that Chambers of Commerce will be involved. There is a likelihood that one of the 22 council members will be the MECCA president or his deputy.

He remarked that Congressman Paul Simon, not known as a tool of business, has succeeded in gaining 15 percent of the federal urban development action funds in the entire U.S. for his Congressional district.

Some of the Chamber executives were upset about lack of cooperation and effectiveness of the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

John Chadd, of the Wood River Township Chamber of Commerce, spoke bitterly of the department's requirement that he make seven different reports on the seven different communities in his area, which he is convinced gives the department and prospective industrial locators a distorted and unfavorable impression of his highly industrialized general area.

Jim Livingston, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce executive, said he went to Springfield to do a slide presentation for IDCCA people because they lacked basic information about the Quad-Cities. He has now invited an IDCCA team to visit the local community.

Boer said SIMAPC does not receive IDCCA's notices that firms are seeking sites, although it has handled site location work for a score of the smaller sites in its five-county region. But he gave an excuse for IDCCA: "It is grossly understaffed and under-budgeted."

Chadd said he resents mistrust shown by the IDCCA. "I don't ask them to tell me the name of the prospect. All I ask is that they tell me the requirements so we can go to work," he commented.

Pete Lakuta, Belleville Chamber manager, said his Chamber has a list of 17 sites along Route 157.

Button said all the Chambers should be made aware of them. Prospects who can't use sites in one locality might find those in another area ideal, he added.

The new council apparently will put together such information for the whole Southwest Illinois area.

Canvass—Byron victorious by 167

Is each vote important? Yes, judging by the official canvass of the March 18 election in Madison County, completed Wednesday afternoon.

State's Attorney Nicholas Byron won the Democratic nomination for that office with 8,608 votes to 8,441 for Dick Allen and 8,294 for William R. Haine, the canvassing board said. The winning margin of 167 votes is less than one per cent in this county's 222 voting precincts.

Don W. Weber received 11,710 for state's attorney on the Republican ticket. The St. Clair County canvass is still incomplete but it appears that Republican conventional delegates will be Robert Glenn and Don Weber, Reagan backers, and Rep. Celeste Stieh, uncommitted. Carter supporters swept the Democratic delegate competition.

The canvass showed the circuit judge nomination went to A. A. Matossian with 13,484 votes to 11,555 for Charles W. Chapman. Recorder of Deeds Ronald Lucas gained renomination 13,563 to 10,692 for David Knoblauch.

Madison County Board members here received the same vote totals as announced unofficially last week, except for District 25, where Richard Peck is shown with a 644-202 tally. For the Democratic presidential nomination, in Madison County, it was Carter with 16,620, followed by Kennedy 7,917, Brown 1,249 and LaRouche 772. In the Republican presidential race, it was Reagan with 10,257 trailed by Anderson, 2,896, Bush 1,177, Crane 222, Baker 89, Connally 42, Kelley 26 and Dole 17.

O'Neal led for the GOP senate nomination with 8,126 to 4,019 for Scott and 1,300 for Carver. Davinry led Montalvo 3,784 to 3,143 for Congress, and State Rep. Steele trailed 20,334.

On the Democratic ballot, Dixon led for the U. S. Senate with 20,826 to 2,914 for Seith, 1,062 for Williams, 859 for Wallace and 588 for Martin-Trigona.

In a substantial departure from the previous figures, Cong. Melvin Price (D) led in this county with 18,005 to 2,119 for Vic Darnell and 1,229 for Sam Drenovic. The unofficial tallies had been 19,695 to 3,960 and 3,159.

For appellate judge, nominee Mays received 3,928 in Madison County to 14,947 for Calvo, 3,096 for Niemann and 1,846 for Waller.

Also on the Democratic ticket, Rep. Sam Wolf totaled 25,318 in this county and Rep. Jim McPike 23,218.

Break ground April 25 for new lock, dam

The Bi-State Development Agency, in conjunction with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, will host groundbreaking ceremonies for new Lock & Dam 26 on Tuesday, April 25, at 2 p.m.

Ceremonies will take place at the site two miles downstream from the present Alton locks and dam in the Mississippi River.

Although speakers for the occasion have not been finalized, President Jimmy Carter has been invited, and his office has requested that Charles Houghton, Bi-State executive director, keep the president apprised of plans for the ceremony.

Holsinger heads GC Republicans

On Monday evening, the Republican Granite City District precinct committee held their post-primary reorganizational meeting in the home of Mrs. Ralph A. Wilson.

George Slattery, district chairman, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Harold Stallings gave the treasurer's report.

Dale Hyle nominated George Slattery to act as parliamentarian for the election of district officers for 1980-82. Those elected were Kent Holsinger, district chairman, Walter Emde, vice-chairman, and Harold Stallings, secretary-treasurer. Those appointed were Kent Holsinger, district chairman, Walter Emde, vice-chairman, and Harold Stallings, secretary-treasurer.

Assistant Pontoon Beach clerk planned

By DONNA HARTWICK of the Press-Record
Pontoon Village Board President Paul Bennett introduced a council ordinance that the village owns Illinois Power Co. $4,404 for an overcharge on municipal taxes at a board of directors meeting Tuesday night.

Payments of 12 installments will be accepted by the power company, Bennett said. The overcharge covers a three-year period and the court decision was received this week, he added.

A lengthy discussion followed on the correct procedure for the board to proceed in hiring an assistant village clerk to assume the duties of Mary Warren, elected village clerk, who has been out of the office for about six weeks due to an illness.

Mrs. Warren is expected to undergo major surgery in April and will not be able to return to her position for an indefinite time, Bennett added.

During her absence there have been no village documents signed and all work relating to zoning, buildings, inspection and annexation has come to a halt, it was related.

On the recommendation of the village attorney, Robert Hennessey, Board President Bennett is to look for a temporary assistant clerk, since it was noted that Mrs. Warren is responsible for all actions by the replacement.

Mrs. Christ dies today

Mrs. Alberta M. (Black) Christ, 71, of the Edwardsville Care Center, a lifelong resident of Granite City, died at 6:10 a.m. today at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She had been in for two months and was a patient at the hospital for 10 days.

Mrs. Christ was born in Steelville, Mo., and a lifelong resident of Granite City. She was employed at Nesco Co. as a production line worker, prior to her retirement.

Her husband, Edward W. Christ, died in 1969. Survivors include two sons, Edward and William Christ, both of Granite City; a daughter, Mrs. Russell (Jo Ann) Anderson, Kankakee, Ill.; two sisters, Mrs. Richard (Caroline) Ely and Mrs. Fred (Mabel) Maxiner, both of Granite City; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

If the board agrees to appointment of an assistant, it will first have to amend a village ordinance, there is no provision in the current ordinance for appointing an assistant clerk.

The other alternative would be to hire a secretary to perform the duties of Mrs. Warren but the secretary would not have the power to sign documents relative to village business.

To expedite the solution, a special meeting may be called for the trustees to take action on temporarily replacing Mrs. Warren.

In other news, Bennett announced Sharon Little has been hired as a police dispatcher through the Manpower Development agency, and she started her job on March 19.

Board members instructed the attorney to amend the flood control insurance coverage available to Pontoon area residents.

Diane Skinner reported an assessment of $1,000 on workman's compensation insurance has been resolved and will be deleted from the village payments; the fee erroneously was charged on a full-time fire department employee basis.

Skinner explained he convinced the insurance people the village is served by a volunteer fire department.

Board approval was given to Police Chief Rosewell Bennett to have three police vehicles serviced, and necessary repairs made at a cost in keeping with estimates presented at the meeting.

He was authorized to make expenditures to put the vehicles in safe operating condition and to keep a record of current mileage. Duane Skinner presented a petition for annexation to the village of property he owns to the east of Highway 111 between Highway 162 and State Aid 35. Board members voted to annex the property, zoned industrial.

petition filing deadline was last weekend.

Should the board secretary uphold the eight Novich objections, Dymas would still have 11 more signatures than required.

Novich said yesterday he feels the additional petition is not valid, but a school administrator said the legal opinion from the school attorney was that valid signatures are acceptable as long as they were on file by the deadline.

Dymas said, "When I checked the 55 names on my petition I knew some of the people lived in Madison but noticed some were not in the school district. That is why I got another petition with 14 more signatures, just to be safe."

Novich is objecting to five signatures from the 1300 block of Washington Avenue, apparently not located within the school district. He also maintains one person was not a registered voter at the time of signing and that two signatures, of a husband and wife, "appear to have been signed by one individual."

When asked if he had gone to the board office to examine the petition or petitions he said, "No. I have a copy of the petition made for me by a private source."

Asked why he was interested in the Dymas petitions, Novich said, "I like Sam, but he needs to show more leadership. Besides, his signs are cluttering up all the yards. When I ran I did not have one sign in a yard."

Novich was defeated by Frank Dutko for a Madison County Board nomination March 18 by 399 votes. Novich maintained Wednesday afternoon he would take the matter to court and named an Edwardsville attorney as representing him.

The attorney Novich mention was contacted and said that he had talked to Novich on the phone, but at this time was not representing him. School administrators expressed concern over the "private source" going into official school records and making covert copies.

The petitions are public record and may be examined during normal business hours. A school administrator, at the board office, said that no one had asked to see the petitions.

Bonds

Granite City Steel. The company offered the funds to the city last year to eliminate a city proposal that it initiate a utility tax to provide needed funding for the overpass project.

The second ordinance calls for the sale of $800,000 in general obligation bonds, plus a $90,000 discount which will be used for early interest payments. Those bonds will be retired with motor fuel tax funds received by the city from the state.

Both bond issues are amortized over 20 years.

Before the bond sale measures were offered for a vote, the mayor said the two offers to buy the bonds were received from the Clayton Brown firm and from Mercantile Bank of St. Louis.

The Clayton Brown proposal provided for purchase of the $2,500,000 in bonds at an interest rate of 9.8 percent. On this basis, interest payments over the 20-year period would amount to $3,604,844.

The Mercantile Bank proposal called for an interest rate of 10.7 percent to provide total interest payments of $3,650,655, the mayor said.

Mayor Schuler said both proposals were reviewed by Chapman & Cutler, resulting in the recommendation that the Clayton Brown proposal be accepted.

Council members approved unanimously a motion by Alderman Sam Whitmer that the city accept that offer.

Callis said that the bond ordinances will be certified to the office of County Clerk Evelyn Bowles since the county clerk's office extends the taxes for bond retirements.

However, the city will nullify the annual extension by notifying the clerk's office that funds are on hand for payment of principal and interest, Callis said.

The funds will be guaranteed in an agreement between the city and Granite City Steel for annual payments by the steel firm, and by city documents providing for payment of the lesser bond issue with motor fuel tax funds.

The steel firm agreement is to be offered for council approval in next week's council session, Callis said.

In approving the ordinance authorizing the sale of $1.7 million in bonds, all 12 aldermen present at Tuesday night's meeting voted in favor of the bill. Absent were Alderman Paul Fisk of the Third Ward and Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward.

The second ordinance providing for the sale of $800,000 in bonds was approved by an 11 to 1 vote, with the negative vote cast by Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward. Douglas said he objected to the use of motor fuel tax funds for the overpass project, noting that "This could have been worked out earlier."

Voting in favor of the second ordinance were Aldermen Whitmer, Roy Pauls, Glen Sprinkle, Everett Morlen, Fred "Pat" Schuman Jr., Mac Warfield, Michael Modrusic, Paul R. Bowler, Earl Baker, Margaret Nonn and Lloyd Bailey.

At one point during the council proceedings, Alderman Bailey asked Callis to explain what attorney fees were involved in preparation and handling of the bond documents.

Callis replied that the documents were handled as the work of the city attorney's office.

"There are no fees whatever involved in this except for Chapman & Cutler. That amounts to $5,000," Callis said.

Prior to the city's action on the two bond ordinances, the aldermen voted unanimously to repeal an ordinance adopted in 1974 providing for non-referendum bonds and establishing a 7 percent maximum on interest payable for such bonds.

Callis said that as a home rule entity, Granite City now can issue non-referendum bonds without such an ordinance and that a 7 percent interest maximum is no longer a reasonable figure because bonds cannot be sold at that rate.

Trash Bids

He noted that last June, a representative of Milam-East offered the city an extension of the present contract at an additional cost of 5 percent over the present price of $438,975, but now is asking almost double that amount for the first year of a new contract.

Mayor Paul Schuler remarked that "It is easier to consider him right, but we obviously made a mistake when we turned that (the extension offer) down."

City Council members have refused to pay a $5,000 monthly bill sent by Milam-East for disposing of sludge from the city's sewage treatment plant at the firm's landfill in Chouteau Township.

The city had agreed to pay such a charge when it used the landfill from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., but contends the city has not been using the landfill on an overtime basis, and therefore does not owe the monthly charge.

Action on subdivision referred to aldermen

Action on a recommendation by the City Plan Commission that the Granite City Council approve a plan for subdivision construction on Parkway Drive was delayed by council members Tuesday night when they referred the recommendation to the aldermen of the ward.

Alderman Paul R. Bowler, chairman of the council's Planning and Zoning Committee, told the aldermen there should be further investigation into the subdivision proposal before any action is taken on the plan commission report.

The Plan Commission, which discussed the proposal in a meeting Tuesday, noted that objections were voiced by area residents as to the conformity of the proposed apartment style to the balance of single-family residences in the neighborhood.

Commission members approved the proposal, however, recommending that the City Council also approve the plan but with a stipulation—that before any building permits are issued the Plan Commission would review the appearance of the structures.

In addition, the commission recommended that the council initiate restrictions on the conformity of the buildings in the subdivision.

SEMCO of Granite City is proposing construction of multi-family dwelling units along the new extension of Parkway Drive. The proposal was submitted to the council March 4 and was referred to the Plan Commission for a recommendation.

In a related action, the aldermen approved a recommendation by the Board of Appeals that authority be granted Richard Ahlers, 3107 Wayne Ave., for construction of an unattached garage two feet from the rear side property line. No objections to the variance were presented.

Buecker wins Pack 7 derby

Father Victor Chateaufort, pastor of St. Joseph parish, was judge for Cub Pack 7 at its pinewood derby. Bob Buecker and Bob Hagen were inspectors while Karl Markovich Sr. served as registrar, Mack Coulter as gatekeeper and Ron McKee as the starter.

Robby Buecker earned first place, followed by Eric Coulter, second, and Kevin McKee, third.

They received trophies and a trophy was also awarded for the best decorated car, to Raymond Guenther.

The first, second and third place finishers competed in the first annual district pinewood derby held during the weekend in the St. Elizabeth School cafeteria.

Other competing members of Pack 7 were: Patrick Boyer, Steven Falbe, Greg Hagen, Joey Kusmierczak, Eric Markovich, Karl Markovich Jr., John Narup, Frank Scaturro and Michael Yurek. All contestants in the derby received participation ribbons.

Spectators at the derby included Larry, Gloria, Debra and Joseph Falbe, Nickie Coulter, Betty Hagen, Regina, Ronny and Becky Buecker, Tim and Christy Penn, Lucille, Ray and Tommy Guenther, Stephen and Melissa Kusmierczak, Anthony Boyer, Jorjen, Darin and John Yurek, Diana, Christopher and Angela Markovich and Steven Scott.

Refreshments were provided by Regina Buecker, Mary Coulter, Lucille Guenther and Joreen Yurek.

Den One Cub took a guided tour of the Granite City Press-Record, conducted by Vince Supto, advertising manager.

They visited the business office, advertising department, composing room and press room and they learned how the distribution of the paper is achieved.

Participating were Patrick Boyer, Robby Buecker, Joey Kusmierczak, Kirk Mackintosh, Eric Markovich and Michael Yurek, plus Diana Markovich, den leader.

Study local area's 'roots'

Earl Lazerson, acting president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, on Wednesday launched a three-day university conference on local and community history with a challenge to the participants to "prepare for the future by examining the past."

The conference, sponsored by the university's department of historical studies and the Illinois Humanities Council, will continue today and Friday in the Madison Room of the University Center. Featured are historians from the region, state and nation.

Lazerson said he is especially interested in the impact the conference may have on the future of the university. "By examining this region, in which we have been present for a quarter of a century, we will deepen our understanding of the kind of institution we should seek to be," he said.

"If we make the most of our resources, we can clarify our identity as a regional university, enlightening those citizens who come to us to understand themselves, and taking clearer control of our own fate in the process." Pointing to the "tradition-rich region" which surrounds SIUE, he emphasized, "By looking at certain people and events which have not been noticed and assessed in the manner they deserve, we will deepen our sense of a regional inheritance."

The university is a conservator of the truth of the past and an interpreter of its meaning. The study of history is at the heart of what higher education ought to be. In sponsoring this series of discussions, "we are being true to ourselves."

The first session dealt with ethnic problems in southwestern Illinois history. In the afternoon, the program included a panel discussion on the practices, uses and misuses of oral history, with panelists from three regional universities.

Today's sessions will include discussions of the uses of historical artifacts, and movements toward architectural preservation. Friday's speakers will talk about the historical impact of the rivers and the coal industry on the region.

Deny ballot was withheld

Judges of election during the March 18 primary in the county clerk's precinct 11 of Nameoki Township denied Wednesday that a voter was refused the party ballot he requested, and asserted the man signed for a Democratic ballot and voted it without protests.

He contended he asked for a Republican ballot and was told that he was registered as a Democrat and therefore would have to vote a Democratic ballot.

"There is no truth to that," Clarine Coggin, an election judge, said Wednesday. He signed an affidavit for his ballot and made no objections whatever. We (the judges) did not ask voters if they were Democrats or Republicans. We gave them the ballots they requested."

Carl Tate, also a precinct election judge, agreed there was no problem over the question of a Democratic or Republican ballot. "As I recall, the voter really wanted to vote a split ballot, but when he was told he could not do that in the primary, he accepted a ballot and voted it without further objections."

Marie Durbin, a poll judge, said, "I don't know why he said we refused him a Republican ballot. Why should we single him out? There were several party changeovers in our precinct."

Another Judge, Robert Boone, said there was "no way" that a voter would be refused the ballot he requested. "It didn't happen," he said.

The fifth precinct judge, Josephine Simmons, also denied the allegation. "It didn't happen," she said.

Slate 2nd in state contest

Robert Dennis Slate, 18, a senior at Granite City High School North, earned second place in the Illinois American Legion state oratorical contest on Monday.

In addition to the usual honors of a trophy and certificate, Slate has earned an $800 scholarship.

The event was held at the Joliet West High School. The contest is considered by many educators to be the most highly regarded public speaking contest for high school students. It is the only national speech contest sanctioned by both the Illinois Association of High School Principals and the Illinois Office of Education.

The state final competition included the five winners of division contests held throughout Illinois.

Each state contestant presented a memorized 8 to 10 minute original oration based on the U.S. Constitution.

Slate's original oration was entitled "National

ROBERT D. SLATE

Defense: The Price of Liberty.

Each contestant also spoke extemporaneously for five minutes on one specific aspect of the Constitution, a portion made known to the contestant only five minutes prior to speaking.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Slate Jr., 2240 Shilene Drive. His speech coach is Dr. Gennie Michaeloff, chairman of the GCHS North speech department.

Professor Nicholas Joost dies; area service Friday

A memorial service for Nicholas T. Joost, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville professor emeritus who died Sunday at his home in Jacksonville, Fla., will be held Friday at 10:30 a.m. at the SUIE Religious Center.

The Rev. James Shortal, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Granite City, will conduct the service. The eulogy will be delivered by Alvin D. Sullivan, associate professor in the department of English language and literature, SUIE School of Humanities. The service is open to members of the university community and the public.

Professor Joost, who retired Dec. 15, 1978, was a member of the SUIE faculty 20 years and was instrumental in establishment of the humanities division at the university.

A professor of English, he was nationally prominent as a writer, teacher and researcher.

HITS UTILITY POLE Charles F. Constant, 23, of 2723 Marshall Ave., was injured when his auto, westbound at West 20th Street and Leyden Avenue, allegedly went through a stop sign and struck a utility pole at high speed early this week. He was charged with reckless driving and disobeying a stop sign. He declined to be treated for his injuries and was released by police on a notice to appear in court.

Basis for faculty dismissals outlined

Following are the comments made to the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night by S. J. Davis, superintendent of schools, during a public hearing on the proposed honorable dismissal of 15 teachers.

"My unhappy task this evening is to recommend to the Board of Education the honorable dismissal of certain teaching staff. My recommendations are based on enrollment projections for the 1980-81 school year."

"Under new state legislation, a hearing must be held if the basis for the dismissal is due to economic reasons. It might be noted that it does not specify that the economic reason must be of a negative nature."

"The recommendations I will make are not based in their entirety upon economic reasons. There are other reasons underlying my recommendations."

"However, because the new law appears to leave a great deal of latitude in interpretation, and raises more questions than it answers, the administration believed it was in the best interest of the district to have a hearing in an attempt to stay within a broad interpretation of the legislation."

"Each of you is well aware of the requirement that, if teacher dismissals are to take place, notice must be given 60 days before the end of the current school term. That means usually about March 31."

"Yet, teachers who resign or retire are not required to act until usually June 30. And, of course, we will not know our actual enrollment until next September."

"It is, indeed, unfortunate that this type of statutory schedule exists because it is disruptive of teacher morale. But we must abide by the law despite its harmful effects."

"Our average pupil loss over the past four years, from the end of one year to the beginning of the next year, has been 240."

"Using this four-year average, we anticipate a pupil population of 10,550, based upon the known February 1980 enrollment of 10,776."

"Based thereon the administration has estimated that the district will require 15 fewer teachers in 1980-81 than during the present school year."

"Because fewer staff will require less expenditures than the present number projected on next year's salary schedule, the dismissals might be considered an economic reason under a broad interpretation of the new law."

"Certainly, the district should not commit itself to expend revenue until such time that more definitive facts are known of actual enrollments next fall."

"The dismissals being recommended this year are more selective than in previous years. This is due to two major causes."

"Most non-tenured staff presently employed are in specialty areas and, unless more senior staff members can be placed in these positions, the non-tenured teachers will be retained."

"Also, as the decrease in enrollments reaches the secondary (junior high and high school) levels, the number of teachers compared to enrollment, by department, becomes the criteria used in staff reduction."

"We are hopeful that the actual loss in staff numbers will be less than we are recommending for dismissal."

"This seemingly contradictory statement is made because we normally add staff in the fall, and we do plan to recommend some additional staff in special education."

"In addition to this, it should be noted that we will probably receive some resignations after this date. As of tonight, I am aware of only four such resignations."

"As these resignations become known, our staffing recommendations will be brought back to the board."

"Following are 15 individuals who are being recommended for honorable dismissal. Six of these 15 individuals are non-tenured teachers."

He named Patsy Allen, Stephen Cavanaugh, Ronald Coleman, Jerry Fouts, Jane Franko, Cheryl Gertsch, Helen Kutosky, Margaret Lyons, Sheila McCauley, Tina McGrath, Elaine Parrish, Ann Peters, Patricia Prosser, Terry Tessler and Virginia Wyrostek.

"It will be my recommendation that the resolution on honorable dismissals be adopted with the above named names inserted," Supt. Davis concluded. The action was approved by the board.

Venice kindergarten sign-up, pre-school screening April 7

Venice Community Unit School District Three will be conducting kindergarten registration and pre-school screening Monday, April 7, from 1 to 7 p.m.

The screening is a free service available to all 3, 4 and 5 year olds.

It includes screening of vision, hearing, speech and language, and general growth and development. The entire process requires 30 to 60 minutes.

For kindergarten registration, the parent must present a birth certificate and the child's immunization record, and must pay a registration fee of $1. Jane Hyten, pre-school specialist, said.

Charged with beating youth

Durand Dilday, 17, of 2815 Harding Blvd., was arrested at his home last week on a battery complaint signed by the mother of a 14-year-old Nevada Avenue boy who was beaten at West 25th Street and Ohio Avenue about 4 p.m. the previous day.

The victim, Cecil Martin, suffered broken skin on his left elbow and right leg and around his shins and had red marks on his back, police said.

Martin said he was walking with a friend when a teen got out of a car, walked up to him and struck him repeatedly before the assailant drove away.

Witnesses obtained a license number of a car which led to police arresting Dilday at his home. He was released on $55 cash bond.

Histology graduate

Mary Henke has become the first graduate of St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Histology Training Program. She is now eligible for certification in the United States and Canada.

As a histotechnologist, she will prepare and stain thin tissue specimens for microscope examination. Mary Henke worked as a blood drawer for four years at the local Medical Center before she entered the training program in March 1978.

The histologic training program began at St. Elizabeth in 1977 under the direction of Lisa Jackson, director of histology, and Dr. J. Spindler, a pathologist at the center. Both are instructors in the program.

"This program is one of the few on-the-job training programs in the medical field," Director Jackson said.

"It allows a non-professional to receive training for a professional career. But by 1983, regulations will require that all histologic training be given only in a university."

"People wishing to receive on-the-job histologic training at St. Elizabeth must only have a high school education. At the present time, only one other student is in training in the program, and there is room available for one more student."

Election night '80—a busy, hectic but fascinating time for thousands

Press-Record feature
by Bill Winter and Gary Schneider

Election night....

It's a time when most public officials and would-be officials agonize over early returns and try to interpret their meaning.

It's an evening when voters strain to learn of fragmentary tidbits in order to find out whether their favorites won or lost.

It's a period in which news men and women work most of the night filling in voting charts, and sometimes most of the following night completing their news articles and analyses.

Veteran Press-Record staff members recall the years when television had not yet placed a set in every house, when mammoth voting booths were hauled to each polling place, when newspaper offices were "where the action was" on election night.

There was no requirement in the early days for poll judges to make a record of individual candidates' vote totals in their precinct, other than those tallies sealed into their ballot bags.

Reporters had to hurry from poll to poll in their assigned neighborhood or city, hoping to catch the judges as they were preparing to leave, but not before they saw the counting of ballots was done behind locked doors.

It was quite a trick to estimate the varying times and copy down all results at a particular voting place without losing out on one or two other polls nearby—simultaneously rushing the precinct totals back to the Press-Record office so that massive charts could be filled in.

The public was intensely interested and filled the newspaper building at 1815 Delmar Ave. to overflowing. It was noisy, hectic, and a lot of fun for all concerned.

Nowadays, computers have begun to play a big part not only in recording but interpreting the voting. There are simplified voting tables in each precinct. And sophisticated techniques are used in questioning voters as they leave the polling places.

For example, it was quickly determined after the polls closed last Tuesday night that—of Illinois Democrats crossing over to vote Republican—40 percent did so to support Ronald Reagan for president and 46 percent to back John Anderson.

While Anderson had a slight edge in this regard, national commentators noted that many Democrats and independents were willing to vote for conservative-leaning Reagan, despite the "conventional wisdom" that he would appeal only to a narrow "far right" political base.

They also determined that while most voters were sick and tired of President Jimmy Carter's economic policies, rival Edward Kennedy isn't going to benefit from this. Their conclusion: a Carter-Reagan ballot battle in November.

(It was "back to the drawing boards" for the political "experts" yesterday, in the wake of Kennedy's wins in New York and Connecticut.)

A big change in the election night procedures stems from an Illinois statute that finally made it mandatory for election officials to mark a separate list with their precinct's totals—a list that doesn't go into the official records to await the formal canvass of returns.

Even with this requirement, judges at two of the 222 Madison County precincts failed to provide the needed data last Tuesday night, thwarting efforts to add the precincts and arrive at unofficial "complete" county returns. Granite City Precinct 23 was located the next day, but Alton Eight remained unknown, adding uncertainty to the close, three-way race for the Democratic state's attorney nomination.

Now that the law requires poll judges to take their returns directly to the county clerk, the principal election night center is in the Madison County Courthouse (not counting the many informal vote-watching centers set up by various candidates and groups). Newspapers and radio stations cooperate in the tallying of blocks of votes, formerly 10 precincts at a time and now 40 at a time, enabling trends to be learned and ultimately the countywide totals.

Individual newspapers simultaneously pencil in their home area precincts to establish township vote totals.

It's an enjoyable activity—but one we wouldn't want to participate in every week of the year.

Census data helps obtain financial aid

(Office of

lieutenant governor)
Every household in the United States should receive a 1980 Census questionnaire by March 28 or soon after.

Q. Why is the census so important?

A. The results of the census are used to distribute federal and state funds, to locate problem housing and unemployment areas, and to determine the boundaries of election districts. Revenue sharing monies and other community program funds are allocated by population.

Q. Are the answers on the census confidential?

A. Most households will be asked 19 questions on age, race, sex, marital status, education, occupation and housing.

One out of every five households will receive a more detailed questionnaire. Most households will be asked to return their questionnaires by mail; if they do so, they will never need to deal with a census taker.

About 10 percent of the households will be instructed to hold their questionnaire for a census taker to pick up. This will happen mostly in rural areas.

Otherwise, the census takers will concentrate on getting information from people who failed to mail back the census form.

In the 1970 census, almost six million people went uncounted—many of them

A. Yes, they cannot be used against the answering individual or his or her family.

In the 1970 census, almost six million people went uncounted—many of them members of the Hispanic, Native American and Asian American communities. That means that those persons, and the communities they live in, were shortchanged when it came to receiving state and federal funds.

TYING YELLOW RIBBONS around trees and fences at Emerson School got the entire student body involved in U.S. efforts to bring the hostages in Iran home. The students, who use newspapers for their study lessons, had been watching the hostage issue closely, and third grade teacher Siella Davinport got the idea of having her class make yellow ribbons. The idea quickly spread until the entire school was involved and hundreds of yellow ribbons were placed around the school yard. Signs also appeared in the school's windows, including the "Free the hostages" signs in the background. (Press-Record Photo by Gary Schneider)

Bruce Snyder, 19, of 2823 Denver St., and Timothy Young, 2, of 2104 Washington Ave., were injured during the weekend when they were in front of a car which slipped into gear and struck them.

Snyder said he was working on the auto with the engine running when it hit him and the child. They were taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where the child was admitted with injuries to the right side of his head.

Snyder suffered abrasions to his right knee and was released after X-rays were taken.

New fishing licenses on sale by city

New fishing and hunting licenses for the 1980-81 year went on sale at the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens in the city hall Wednesday.

Stevens said the new licenses were received after he wrote the Illinois Department of Conservation to complain about the delay in sending out the new forms. The 1979-80 licenses expire March 31.

Stevens said his office had received a number of complaints from persons who wanted to go fishing but did not have a license. They objected to buying the 1979-80 licenses because they will expire in a matter of days, he said.

The new fishing licenses cost $5.50. The hunting license cost is $7.50 and the combined hunting and fishing license is $11.75.

Women's Division meets; plan dance and style show

The Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce held its monthly dinner meeting in late March at Ristorante di Ravanelli's. Dinner was preceded by the thought for the day, given by Shirley Adams.

Mrs. Mary Danner, co-chairman of the evening along with Mrs. Bonnie Goldenberg, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Rommye Walter, who said she is a physiologist as well as an employee of the SIUE University News Service. The topic of Mrs. Walter's presentation was "In defense of the American privy." When she was young, her father told her that when she did research she should choose a subject no one else had, but that was familiar and interesting to everyone. Trying to follow his advice, she chose outhouses. Her research has taken her almost around the world looking at outhouses, and she has every blueprint the Library of Congress has of them.

They come in all shapes, sizes and architecture and they tell us about politics, power and sociological behavior, she related, adding that an American Privy Preservation Society exists in St. Louis.

Mrs. Jeanette Scannell, president of the Chamber's Women's Division, conducted a business meeting. It was announced that the annual tree sale will be held Saturday, March 29. Trees may be ordered at the Chamber office, 876-6400, this week and picked up on March 29 at Granite Sheet Metal.

The trees are pink or white flowering crabapple and sell for $4.75 each. Mrs. Tina Thomas, chairman of the yearly dinner-dance, which is to be held Saturday, April 26, at the Sunset Hills Country Club, reported on the progress of preparations for the event.

Mrs. Goldenberg announced a mother-daughter banquet will be held May 15 at the Granite City Army Installation. A style show will be featured.

Pontoon Beach Lions helping organizations

The Pontoon Beach Lions Club has voted to approve $1,300 for Lions-supported projects and local community contributions.

The donations were recommended by the club's board and approved by the members at a regular club dinner last week at the Lions Den in Pontoon Beach.

The club approved donations for the Lions Cancer Program, $300; Lions International Foundation Emergency Relief Fund $150; Illinois Lions Deaf Activities $150; Illinois Camp Lions for Visually and Hearing Impaired Children $150; Lions District 1-G convention promotion fund $50, and Lions of Illinois international convention promotion fund, $25.

Pontoon Beach grade school softball team sponsorship will receive $225, Granite City Police Officer Friendly Youth Fund $25, March of Dimes $25, Granite City Parents for Special Education $25, Granite City Amateur Hockey Association $25, United Cerebral Palsy $25, Lewis & Clark Lung Association $25, Madison Lions Club fund project $50, and Granite City Lions fund project $50.

In other business, Vice President David Schermer, chairman of the club's building committee, presented remodeling floor plans for the new Lions Den II building.

The club hopes to move into its new home, located at 3901 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, on May 1.

Floor plans for the new building were made up by Committee Members Bob Cavar and Jerry Morgan, both general contractors. The members approved the plans and gave the committee authority to begin construction as soon as possible.

Past Presidents Jerry Henderson (1975-76), Donald Patrick (1976-77), Rich McKee (1977-78), Larry McKee (1978-79) and current outgoing president Dr. George Goodwin were approved to serve as the 1980-81 nominating committee. Henderson is chairman of the committee.

The election meeting night for 1980-81 club officers was announced as Thursday, April 17, at 6:30 at the Lions Den.

Deputy District Governor Clay Breihan of the Edwardsville Lions presented Dr. Goodwin a plaque from the Lions of Illinois Foundation for the club's $1,500 donation to the foundation from last October's candy day campaign.

GARAGE BREAK-IN

Items valued at $168 were stolen in a burglary at the garage at the home of Charles Pabst, 1933 Maple Ave., it was reported at 5:40 p.m. Monday. It apparently occurred March 29, when it was discovered a window had been removed from the garage. It since was learned the thieves took a car battery, four tires, a socket wrench set and a metal toolbox.

JAMES DUMONT
Dumont receives ROTC promotion

James Dumont, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dumont of 3313 Harvard Place, has been promoted to cadet master sergeant in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana and is the highest ranking cadet in the sophomore class, his parents have been informed.

A letter sent to the student's parents by Capt. Craig E. McDonald, assistant professor of Aerospace Studies at the university, said:

"I am writing to congratulate you on the accomplishments of your son, Jim, in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps. Jim is now holding down a job in a cadet group as plans assistant. This job is normally occupied by an upperclassman."

"The fact that it was given to him shows the amount of faith the cadet group commander has in your son, Jim. He has been a valuable addition to our corps in many ways and his outstanding work, which resulted in this promotion, reflects credit upon himself and the Air Force."

Dumont is majoring in economics. He recently was awarded a two-year scholarship at the university from the ROTC program, based on test scores and his accomplishments in the program.

His father is the principal of South High School and his mother is a business education teacher at North High.

Findings in drug research to be outlined

The answers to how and why some drugs work the way they do may be uncovered because of research being done by Thomas Bouman, professor of chemistry and recipient of a 1978 Research Scholar Award at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Bouman will speak Wednesday, April 2, at a university colloquium on his award-winning project, "Optical Activity Calculations of Organic Molecules," which focuses on predicting the shape of molecules in response to polarized light.

Sponsored by the Graduate School and department of chemistry, the colloquium will begin at 3:30 p.m. in Room 2224 in the SIUE Science Building. The event is open to the public and refreshments will be served.

Bouman is specifically interested in tying together theoretical predictions with experiment results to aid chemists in determining the molecular structure of certain compounds.

This information is linked to drug research where the shape of the drug molecule is important to understanding how and why it works.

The colloquium is the seventh in a series of events honoring past winners of the Research Scholar Award. The awards are presented to SIUE faculty members who submit the best new research proposals as judged by an all-university panel. Each award includes financial support of project costs and partial release time from academic duties.

Quad-City churches announce worship services

Nameoki Presbyterian to hear Calderwood

Palm Sunday will see a number of events that will lead to an Easter celebration in the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road.

Palm Sunday, March 30, will open with a "Mid-East Update" at a breakfast served by the men of the congregation. The speaker for that event, the Rev. Donald H. Calderwood of Pakistan, will also speak at the opening of the 9:30 a.m. Sunday School.

An adult coffee hour and Bible study will follow Calderwood's Sunday remarks, Rev. Don Pierson, pastor, announced.

Rev. Calderwood is principal of the Murree School of Pakistan. His career began with his appointment to the United Presbyterian mission in Pakistan in 1956.

The Kansas native graduated from Sterling College in his home state before taking a graduate degree in the Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary. Rev. Calderwood has been an outstanding college athlete, providing him with background for a sideline to his administrative duties as the coach of the Murree School basketball and football teams.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Calderwood have done advanced academic work at Kansas State University to prepare them for their educational work in the Islamic republic of Pakistan. The Lenten season has been a time of reflection and renewal at the church, stated Rev. Pierson.

"The Final Curtain" has been the topic of the adult coffee hour and Bible study at 9:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

NICK POPILCHAK
Nick Popilchak joins Grace Baptist staff

The Rev. Morris Anderson and members of Grace Baptist Church, 2600 Edwards St., are announcing their second staff addition since the first of the year.

Nick Popilchak has joined the staff, effective March 2, in the capacity of Minister of Music and Youth.

Popilchak, who is married to the former Alicia Hendrickson, comes to Grace Baptist from the Pontoon Baptist Church, where he has served as part-time Minister of Music since January 1978.

He received his B.A. degree in music from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1979. While attending the university, Popilchak was a member of the internationally recognized group, "The SUE Concert Chorus." With this group he has performed with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, the St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra, and has appeared on national television.

During the summer of 1979, the Chorus toured nine European countries, including Hungary, behind the Iron Curtain, representing the U.S.A.

He has been a member of and also director of a puppet ministry, adult, youth, and children's choirs, handbell choirs, and is a former member of a Christian touring group, supported through the Third Baptist Church, his home church, known as "The Windies."

Popilchak states that his philosophy of life and Christian service is that "we are saved to serve. We need to draw all men to Christ with whatever means we have at our disposal. Furthermore, we must educate our children, youth, and adults in His ways and represent them to be true disciples of our Lord."

Mrs. Popilchak is the Lake District Elementary Band Director and teaches beginning band at Lake, Marshall, Webster, and Wilson Schools in the Granite City School District.

Also featured on the program will be soloists Edgar Jones from Friendship Baptist Church, and Aaron Spearman of Mount Nebo Baptist Church.

Mr. Young and the host pastor, the Rev. Sammy L. Hooks, extend an invitation to the public to attend. Refreshments will be served after the performance, they added.

The Sunday evening service will be the concluding service of the United Methodist round-robin of the Quad-City area. The public is invited to join their United Methodist friends from the area for this special service with the Salvation Army at Niedringhaus Church, located at the corner of 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, Rev. Cantata Sunday at Trinity Methodist

The chancel choir of Trinity United Methodist Church will present the cantata, "The Week Before," a choral cycle concerning the final week of Christ's earthly ministry, this Sunday during the morning worship at 10:40 a.m. at Trinity U. Methodist Church, East 25th and Henry streets.

Beginning Palm Sunday with "Hosanna Hosanna" accompanied by finger cymbals and piano played by Joyce Harris, the cantata proceeds through Holy Week. "Here in This House" tells of Jesus' cleansing the temple, and leads on to Jesus, healing and teaching ministry, especially concerning "The Greatest Commandment," Rev. Paul Bryant announces.

"O Holy Hills," sung by baritone soloist Paul Bryant with choir back-up, speaks of Jesus' love of Jerusalem and the Holy Land, the minister added.

Rev. Bryant said on Thursday, Jesus teaches the disciples in the Upper Room and teaches them to remember in the institution of The Lord's Supper, while "we stood by" tells of the crucifixion on Good Friday, and "silence and sorrow" expresses the sense of personal loss the tears-woe of those who loved Jesus who now lies in the grave on Holy Saturday.

The climax comes with the spoken phrase, "I Saw Him," first whispered and building to shouts of joy expressed in "I Have Seen Him" by the choir and soprano soloist Karol Lee and baritone by William Matejka. "The Week Before" will help you see the order of events of Holy Week. We welcome you to this special preparation for Easter, the host pastor noted.

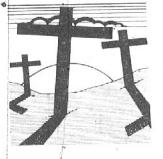

Mrs. Sarasa to speak at Holy Week luncheon

Mrs. Raquel Sarasa will be the featured speaker at the annual Holy Week luncheon for area men's service clubs scheduled for 12 noon on Tuesday, April 1, at the First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue.

The Rev. David Maxton, host minister, said those planning on attending are to call the church office at 876-6812 to make reservations. Cost per person will be $4, he added.

Mrs. Sarasa will speak on her escape from Cuba to the United States 18 years ago. Representatives attending the annual event will be members of the Granite City, Pontoon and Madison Lions Club, Kiwanis Club, Granite City, Madison Rotary, Granite City Rotary, Granite City Optimists, and other men's organizations in the Quad-City area, Rev. Maxton noted.

Church of God Easter project

Law requires all to answer census questions fully, accurately; data can benefit Quad-City area and state

For most Americans, the 1980 census will be simple enough. A questionnaire will arrive in the mail tomorrow. The recipient will simply answer the questions, which will not take long, and then mail back the form on Tuesday, April 1.

What may not be apparent to millions of Americans, as they answer the census in the privacy and convenience of their homes, is the fact that they are making personal contributions to an undertaking so vast, so complex, that the 1980 census qualifies as one of the largest peacetime efforts ever mounted in this country.

By the time the last American is counted sometime during the summer, the Bureau of the Census will have reached an estimated 222 million U.S. residents and 86 million housing units, and gathered more than three billion answers.

The 222 million residents, a nine percent population increase since 1970, include some people who do not speak English, people with various political opinions, the rich, and the destitute, the educated, the illiterate, members of all the earth's races.

The census must also assess their housing—single-family homes, houses, houseboats, condominiums, shacks, "abandoned" buildings, migrant worker camps, jails, school dormitories, at sea, and overseas. The census also will count 25 percent more housing units in 1980 than in 1970.

At the same time, never in the history of the census, which has been taken every 10 years since 1790, have census findings played as big a role in American life as they do today. Besides the Constitutional mandate to provide a basis for reapportioning seats in the U.S. House of Representatives, the census measures how well the nation is doing, from the check level to the peak level. Its findings are used in the private and public sectors to decide how billions of dollars will be spent annually.

Planning for the 1980 census, which has gone on since the early 1970s, reflects this heightened need for the most complete count ever taken, especially of minorities. In 90 percent of the nation's households, including all of the Quad-Cities and Illinois, people will be asked to take their own census, in effect, by answering the questionnaire and mailing them back in postage-free envelopes. Census takers will obtain the information from households that fail to mail back completed questionnaires.

The remaining 10 percent, which will receive instructions to hold the completed questionnaires until census takers pick them up, are mostly in sparsely settled areas in the western half of the nation. In some cases, the census takers will ask additional questions.

Census questions seek basic information about people—age, sex, occupation, and the like—and about subjects, such as housing, personal transportation, and energy use.

Most people will be asked to answer a basic census questionnaire, which has 19 questions. About one of five households, chosen randomly, will be asked to answer a longer version with 46 additional questions.

Federal law requires everyone to answer the census questions under a penalty of confidentiality of personal information. The only people who can see an individual's replies are census employees, who are sworn to secrecy under a $5,000 fine and five-year prison term.

In the 60-year history of the modern census confidentiality law, not once has the bureau or one of its employees been formally charged with releasing census information about any individual. Landmark court rulings through this century have continually upheld the bureau's refusal to release such information, even to the secretary of state, the attorney general, or to corporations involved in litigation.

Moreover, the bureau designs its questions to avoid situations that could lead to a breach of the confidentiality law. Names, addresses, and telephone numbers are never allowed to enter any computer. Social Security numbers are not requested by the census.

The 1980 census tabulations will yield a comprehensive statistical picture of the nation, and of every state, county and community. This data about social and economic characteristics will be used time and again in ways that benefit all strata of society, though the Census Bureau merely provides the data and never applies it.

Being counted is crucial to full political representation as well. Census figures, and their role in reapportioning the House of Representatives, are also used by most states to redistrict their legislatures and to adjust boundaries in municipal elections.

American business firms, from local stores to multinational corporations, rely on census statistics when selecting new sites and evaluating product lines, and for other purposes that ultimately affect the state of the nation's economy.

Concern is often voiced about why particular questions are included in the census. For example, one question asks about plumbing facilities. Why? Because, for several decades, plumbing facilities have been an important indicator of housing quality. The adequacy of plumbing facilities is a key factor in determining which communities receive federal housing assistance funds.

Almost every question in the 1980 census is needed for legislative purposes and often provides valuable data for industry, labor government, and others. All census questions survived years of scrutiny and have been reviewed by Congress.

As the importance of census information has increased, so has pressure to assure that every U.S. resident is counted. An unprecedented effort will be made by the Census Bureau to obtain the fullest possible count, especially in areas with significant minority populations.

For several years, advisory committees composed of Black, Hispanic and American Indian leaders have worked with the Census Bureau to devise ways for improving the count of minorities. Similar meetings have been held with Native American leaders.

A number of innovative methods will be used during the 1980 census to obtain the best possible count, such as double-checking households reported vacant and placing census takers in at night movies, taverns, and on street corners in major urban areas to find the uncounted.

There has also been an unprecedented effort by the bureau to prepare a complete list of mailing addresses, to assure that every household receives a questionnaire. Computer 11 is used to identify the mail will be shaved from the cost of the census for every one percent of the nation's households that promptly mails back fully answered questionnaires.

By law, the Census Bureau must provide the president with the population totals for all the states by Jan. 1, 1981, for purposes of congressional reapportionment. The law also requires that the population of counties, cities and other political subdivisions be provided to each state no later than April 1, 1981, for redrawing state district lines.

Indict 6 in race track scandal

A Madison County grand jury returned indictments yesterday against six persons who allegedly attempted to "fix" a Triple Crown race at Fairmont Park Race Track Jan. 8.

Four of those indicted were arrested about 9:30 p.m. yesterday at the race track and two more are being sought, according to Dick Barrett, of the Illinois State Police Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI).

Barrett explained, "The DCI race track unit received information in January that substantial sums of money were being transferred to and from persons who were subject to harness drivers, trainers and owners in an attempt to control the order of finish."

"The attempt failed because one of the subjects involved in the conspiracy failed to perform as agreed," Barrett alleged.

A 90 day investigation by the DCI and the Illinois State Police Division of Criminal Investigation culminated in Byron, personally, presenting the case to the grand jury yesterday.

The indictments "will have positive and substantial impact on horse racing in Illinois," Barrett predicted.

Arrested last night were Robert L. Phillips, 32, St. John's, Mich., a driver, charged with conspiring to commit unlawful corrupt acts. His bond is set at $15,000.

Big Red coach: 'We'll be in every game'

GRANITE CITY

There are three things that Jim Hanifan says matter of factly: 1) Jim Hart is the starting quarterback from day one of pre-season workouts, 2) The Cardinals are going to play every single minute of every game as if their jobs depend on it; 3) They do.

"I'll guarantee you this," Hanifan, the new told a gathering of Granite City Rotarians Tuesday, "We'll be in every game next season. We may make some mistakes. Everybody does if they're human. But we'll do everything we have to do to score more points than the other teams. And that's the name of the game."

Hanifan, who was named late last year to replace Bud Wilkinson as the St. Louis football Cardinals' head coach, also said there will be no question as to who will be the Big Red's starting quarterback: veteran Jim Hart or former Missouri great Steve Pisarkiewicz. "Jim Hart is number one," he said. "There's no doubt about that."

Hanifan came to St. Louis after spending one year as an assistant coach with former Big Red head coach Don Coryell in San Diego. Prior to that, he was an assistant with Wilkinson and Coryell at St. Louis. Much has been said in recent seasons about the poor relationships between Football Cardinals management, players and coaches. "Much of the troubles have been disharmony," said Hanifan. "The news media has been given a lot of information to write about concerning the subject," he said. "Of course, they have to sell papers. But from now on, everything will be an internal affair. And it's harmony."

"A lot of people in St. Louis don't think much of Hart as a quarterback," said Hanifan. "But it's always been that way. Half love him and half don't think he's any good."

"But I'll tell you this: The biggest gripe about Hart is that he can't run. But I've seen the quarterbacks who run and you know something? They can't throw the ball."

"I'd rather have a quarterback who can throw and let somebody else do the running."

One of the other controversies last season arose when - then coach Wilkinson allowed Hart to call his own plays in the huddle. Prior to that, the coaches on the sidelines had called the plays — at least for the past several seasons.

"I've always been a proponent of the coach calling the plays," said Hanifan. "If the staff is involved in every minute of the game. But if not, coaches start to drift off and sometimes aren't ready to make split-second decisions when they're needed."

Hanifan, who was one of the best-killed coaches in Cardinal history when he was an assistant with the Big Red, was sort of a surprise choice when he was named to the head post. After all, he had left St. Louis a little over a year earlier to get away from the troubles.

But there's a special lure about the number one job. Being head coach. You just don't turn down an offer like that.

Hanifan defended his new boss, Bidwell, which didn't come as too much of a surprise from a man who'd probably like to keep his job a while. "If I had to take as much crap as he (Bidwell) has gotten from the news media, I tell you what I'd do."

"I'd call in everybody connected with the organization to a big room. Then I'd point over to the scouts and I'd tell them to scout. I'd point to the coaches and I'd tell them to coach. I'd tell the players to play. I'd tell the equipment managers to take care of the equipment. I'd tell the secretaries to do the secretarial work."

"Then I'd tell them, 'any crap that we get, you take it, not me. After all, does the president of Granite City Steel have to take all that crap? No, somebody down the ladder takes it. It's surprising to me that the guy with all the dough gets all the flak.'"

Hanifan offered an explanation for many of the troubles. "There are of course many reasons this has occurred," he said. "One of them is that in a situation like this, the news media takes sides. They get a certain viewpoint of the troubles from one source and they start to lean toward that side."

Hanifan closed his remarks with a commitment. "I promise only one thing — that we'll work hard to be a winner. We're all human and will make mistakes."

"But the harder you work, the more mistakes you'll make."

Warriors washed out

BELEVILLE — The prep baseball game between Granite City South and Belleville West here was postponed because of wet grounds.

The game was to have been the season-opener for the South Warriors. It had been re-scheduled for April 25 in Belleville at 4 p.m.

The next scheduled action for the South Warriors is Saturday (March 29) at home with a doubleheader against Chicago Marist. A single game against 1979 Class A runnerup New Lenox-Providencia is scheduled for Sunday at South.

Because of wet grounds at area ball fields, it could be necessary for New Lenox to play a scheduled game Friday against Edwardsville at South's field. There is also a chance time that South could play New Lenox the same day in a doubleheader. However, a definite decision had not been made by involved officials as of press time this morning.

Local hole-in-one

GRANITE CITY — Walter Kofka of Granite City fired a hole-in-one Thursday at the Arlington Golf Course near Granite City.

The ace came on the 190 yard, par three number eight hole. Kofka used a two iron and a Top Flite XL ball.

SLU hands SIU-E baseball setback

EDWARDSVILLE — The baseball Billikens of St. Louis University handed SIU-Edwardsville's Cougars a 4-2 setback here Wednesday in the first game of the season at Cougar Field.

Tom Ritzheimer of SIU-E was the starting pitcher and went the distance, absorbing the loss, which dropped his team's record to 5-7. Ritzheimer's record fell to 3-1.

He struck out eight Billiken batters and walked one.

The winning pitcher was Tom Fleming (1-0). He also went all the way, striking out five and walking two.

St. Louis U. took a 2-0 lead in the sixth inning, but the Cougars came back to tie it in the eighth.

In the eighth, SIU-E's George Vogel doubled and went to third on an infield hit by Rich Kantner. Catcher Tom Burg made an infield out, but Ed Kopf got an infield hit to drive in Vogel.

In the top of the ninth inning, St. Louis U's Mark Webb hit a two-run triple to give the Billikens their margin of victory.

They were two Granite Cityans in the lineup — one on each team. For St. Louis University, junior Eldon Warfield, a graduate of Granite City South, started at third base. Freshman

Page's blast propels Steelers to 4-2 win

GRANITE CITY — The unexpected things are what make sports so interesting.

When he stepped to the plate Wednesday afternoon in the bottom of the second inning, Granite City North first baseman Dennis Page looked harmless enough. The seventh man in the batting order, Page hasn't been known throughout his brief prep career as a power hitter. Then came the unexpected.

Page lined a one-ball pitch over the left field fence to drive in two runs (teammate Brian Patterson had walked) and gave North a 2-0 lead — a lead the Steelers never relinquished — on their way to a 4-2 opening-game victory over St. Jacob-Triad at North's field.

"Grigsby," said Page, a senior, "Grigsby Junior High. That was the last time I hit a home run. They come few and far between." To set the record straight, Page's last homer was a grand-slam and helped Grigsby to a win over Prather Junior High. That was five school years ago when Page was a seventh grader.

North ace Steve Doty was the starting and winning pitcher for North, which returns most of the team that advanced to the Illinois Class AA "Elite Eight" in Peoria last season. Doty pitched the first four innings before giving way to Greg Faulkner on the mound. Faulkner also pitched well, encountering trouble only in the form of a minor seventh-inning jam during which Triad scored its second run. Doty gave Triad three hits. Faulkner allowed only two, both in the seventh.

"We told Steve (Doty) he could throw about 50 pitches," said North head coach Bob Stegemeier. "I think he threw about 55. That's enough for the first game of the season, especially in this cold weather."

Ah, yes, the weather. Some things never change. Like opening-day weather. The wind made it seem colder.

Mendoza grabbed the 'ring'

By KEVIN ALLEN
 of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY—The moment had been two weeks coming. But the preparation had been underway for years.

When 19-year-old Danny Mendoza climbed into the boxing ring at Keil Auditorium for the St. Louis Golden Gloves championship, March 8, he knew the training, the dedication, the self-denial had been worth the effort.

It was like a movie. The Big Fight. The youngster has worked long and hard finally has a shot at the title.

And the drama wrapped up in the Golden Gloves 165-pound novice division championship wasn't lost on the young Granite Cityan.

"It was just like the movie, Rocky," Mendoza said. "The ring was in spotlights but the rest of the place was dark. Like a Madison Square Garden scene or something."

"When I climbed in the ring, I could hear all my friends at ringside chanting my name."

"I just said to myself, 'You can't let them down'."

He didn't. Mendoza had faced his opponent, Sherman Griffin of St. Louis, twice before. He knew what to expect.

The first round was even, and as usual, Mendoza had gotten off to a slow start. But in the second round Mendoza was dominant.

Toward the end of the round Griffin was floored by a straight-arm left and took a standing eight-count. At that point Mendoza knew he had the fight won.

"I should have knocked him out," Mendoza recalled. "It was hurting him pretty good in the second round I probably would have finished him if it hadn't been at Keil. There was just something about the place."

But the damage was done. Mendoza held the slight edge in the final round. And when it was over the judges awarded him the decision.

Less than two years since he began training in earnest and in only his second Golden Gloves competition, Danny Mendoza was the champ.

And now he's ready to move on.

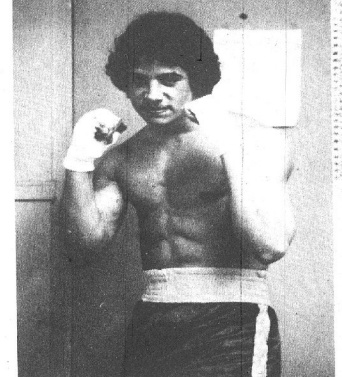

Just now, when he appears ready to move into the big-time of amateur boxing, Mendoza has all but made up his mind to step out.

"I'm hanging 'em up now," he said. "I got what I wanted. I reached it. I think I could handle it, but I'm in the open division now with guys who are contenders for international competition."

"These guys are men. The novice fighters are young men. Open division fighters work like it's a job. I just don't want that."

All that pressure and work—it just wouldn't be the same. Not like when he was just a neighborhood kid playing make-believe champ in a backyard auditorium.

Not even when he trained with Rick Singleton, a monitor at Granite City South high school when Mendoza was a student. Then, as he prepared for his first fights, it was for the goal. The Gloves.

DANNY MENDOZA

Even though he gave up most of his social life for training for it, even the Golden Gloves novice championship was a different world than the Open division.

Mendoza has seen enough of that world to know.

"Last January," Mendoza said, "the Missouri Athletic Club had a card. This is a really good place, and they match up the top two area fighters in each division to fight."

"I was matched with Ron Johnson, this guy from St. Louis. He was huge. He had this big muscular upper body. We were in the 156-pound class, but he looked like he was about 180."

"He broke my nose in the second round. Then I jammed my thumb. So as I was walking back to my corner after the round, this guy is hitting me on the back of the head. He wanted to kill me."

"My second in the corner threw out the towel when I got there. But the crowd was all starry and they started to boo. Boo. So I grabbed the towel and threw it back."

"I finished strong, and I got the decision."

The difference between fighters like Ron Johnson and the novices comes down to desire. "If you don't succeed," Mendoza said, "there's always somebody else out there who will."

 than it really was, but the temperature was cool enough for heavy coats on most of the fans, despite the bright sun.
 "It's good to win your first one," said Stegemeier. "You never know what to expect. We really haven't been outside that many times yet."

An old ally of North's returned to the lineup

Wednesday—hitting. Even though the Steelers got just six hits, they made the most of them. Three came in the three-run second inning, including Page's two-run blast. In fact, Page's hit was the first of Triad starter, Tom Ladd. There were more to come.

After North's Dan Patterson struck out for the second out of the second inning, designated hitter Brian Corcoran walked. He went to third when teammate Rob Chapman singled and advanced to third when the left fielder bobbled the ball. Corey scored on a single by right fielder Joe Faloni.

"I was very pleased with our hitting today," said Stegemeier. "We had a few players who didn't hit well today, but we know will start hitting soon. It's still very early in the season."

Defensively, the Steelers were up to their old tricks. Doly and Faulkner had some dazzling fielding going on behind them. A couple plays took away possible big innings from Triad.

One such play came in the first inning when North center fielder Bob Ford, with his back to the plate, tracked down a long fly ball off the bat of Triad's Kurt Smith. Had the ball gone down the line, Smith could have scored later in the inning when teammate Rich Lambert singled.

Another came in the third inning when North's all-star third baseman Mike Robertson dived to his right and stopped a fair ball off the bat of Jon Kottkamp inches off the bag. Even though Kottkamp reached base, the ball would have gone for a double and perhaps a triple if Robertson had not flagged it down. Steeler shortstop Bob Batey also displayed mid-season form in the first inning when he came up with a tough ball in the hole.

"We got some good defensive plays," said Stegemeier. "You know our left side of the infield (Robertson and Batey) is going to be strong. But there are still some dogfights going on for starting spots at other positions."

Triad scored its first run in the third inning. Smith walked and was sacrificed to second by Lambert. He scored when Rick Keller singled into left field.

Things looked a little more precarious for Doly in the next inning—the fourth—when he walked the leadoff batter, Kottkamp, who proceeded to steal second base on Doly's first pitch to the next batter, Dave Lambert.

Then Doly hit his stride. He worked Lambert to a 2-2 count before slipping a fastball past him for a called third strike. Then designated hitter Gene Weiss was called out on strikes. Tom Ladd became the third strikeout victim of the inning when Doly got him to go down swinging on three straight pitches.

North's fourth run of the game came in the third inning. Batey walked leading off and also scored and third. He scored when Ford stroked a single into right field.

Confirmation Sunday at St. John Lutheran

A service of confirmation will take place on Palm Sunday at St. John Lutheran Church, 2001 St. Clair Ave. Nine young people of the eighth grade confirmation class will become full-fledged communicant members of the congregation at the 10 a.m. service, according to the Rev. Samuel Boda.

They are John Paul Bates, Christina Marie Chapman, Esther Susan Diak, Jeffery Dale French, Michael Wayne Geske, Sharon Ann Henke, William David Henke Jr., Charles Edward Krohne, and Keith Eugene Snow.

Members of the class underwent a public examination regarding their understanding of Christian doctrine and especially the Sacrament of the Altar last Sunday.

The Rev. Boda, conducted the examination and will also be in charge of the confirmation ceremony.

Assisting will be Seminarist Donn Wilson, who served as instructor of this class during their seventh grade year. Organist will be Mrs. June Barton; acolyte will be Tommy Chapman.

Ladies of the Church Choir will sing "Rejoice Ye Pure in Heart," by J.S. Bach, as members of the confirmation class enter the church sanctuary on Palm Sunday, robed in white and carrying palm fronds. The professional will be reminiscent of the first Palm Sunday, when 7 people welcomed and acclaimed Jesus Christ as King and Lord, as He descended the Mount of Olives on a colt, on His way to Jerusalem where He would carry out the task of working out eternal salvation for all mankind, Rev. Boda added.

All who attend the Palm Sunday service will receive a small cross made from palm leaves. Following individual confirmations, each class-member will receive a copy of the revised standard version of the Holy Bible as a gift from the congregation.

During the course of the service, communicant members of the congregation will also be invited to rise to be "re-confirmed" in their Christian faith, the pastor noted.

Chass pictures will be taken in the chancel following the recessional. The confirmation class will receive its first communion on Maundy Thursday, at 7 p.m.

St. John's United Church of Christ will be celebrating Holy Week through several well planned programs and worship services. Different organizations are in charge of the various programs, according to the Rev. Dr. Kenneth Netz, pastor.

At the Palm Sunday first service 9 a.m., a palm procession will feature the members of the adult choir and youth choir, both pastors, Dr. Kenneth A. Netz and Pastor James Morey, and the teachers and children of the Sunday School. A special feature of this service will be the children's sermon delivered by Pastor Mory Dr. Netz's sermon at this service will be "From Palms to Pits."

At the second service the order of worship for the confirmation will be observed. Following the sermon delivered by Pastor Mory, entitled, "Our Call From Christ," 21 youth of the church will be confirmed by both pastors.

Palm Sunday afternoon and evening will have members of the church participating in a Lenten Fair. Members who have made reservations will experience the thrill of making crosses from nails, planting "new life" seeds, decorating eggs, and making pretzels. They will also be able to learn more about communion and a seder meal at two teaching booths. Following the fair participants will gather for a fellowship meal and view a play by the Covenant Players, Dr. Netz added.

On Maundy Thursday members with reservations for the seder meal will meet and learn more about this Jewish custom, which is a representation of the Jewish Passover (April 12) observance. One tradition from the early Christian church reports that it was this meal which Jesus was observing the night He was betrayed.

From the symbolism of the blood of Passover is identified the sacrifice of Jesus on the Cross, the pastor noted.

Good Friday service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday evening. Taken from an early fourth century office this service observes a solemn observance of communion. The Tenebrae service which follows Holy Communion recalls the betrayal by Judas, the denial of Peter, and the suffering and death of Jesus the Christ, Dr. Netz said.

East Sunday will be celebrated at the two regularly scheduled worship services 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m., the pastors announced.

PATRICIA ANN FLANIGAN, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Overbey, 3164 Jill Ave., has been selected finalist in the 1980 Illinois Miss Teen-U.S.A. Pageant. The event will be at the Sheraton-Oakbrook Inn July 11, 12 and 13.

They may choose to give either a two-minute speech on "My Favorite Subject," a two minute original monologue, or a two minute talent presentation. Speeches will be judged on content and delivery. "ALL FAITHS ARE INVITED"

AAUW growth is meeting topic

The Granite City Branch of the American Association of University Women discussed the advances of the organization since its inception in 1882 at a dinner meeting held at Bill Burn's Cafeteria.

Governor James R. Thompson proclaimed March 16-22 as AAUW Week noting the group now has 190,000 members in 1820 branches in the United States.

The proclamation read in part, "the association membership has consistently worked for passage of state and federal legislative programs to advance women's causes and environmental issues and energy conservation matters. Therefore, Gov. Thompson proclaimed AAUW Week in Illinois to show gratitude for successful work accomplished by the organization."

Members and guests were welcomed by First Vice-President Mrs. Robert Koziellek and prayer was offered by Waldo Frohardt. Reports were submitted by Miss Hazel Towery, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Ruby Foster, treasurer. Program development chairman, Mrs. Koziellek divided the members into small groups for discussion on "families facing change" illustrated with short talks and bulletin board outlines. Topics included "Women in Labor Force," "Single Parent Families," "Influence of Family on Children," and "Care for Elderly."

A copy of "Patterns For Your Future" edited and compiled by Gertrude P. Brainard, donated by the local AAUW branch was presented by Mrs. Lily Ann Firmer to the Granite City Public Library. It was noted the book, written especially for junior and senior high schools provides models for young women to emulate. This publication is hoped to arouse an awareness of the impact of women throughout the history of Illinois and for young women to become familiar with women of note in their own state.

The next meeting on Thursday, April 17, will convene at 6 p.m. at Bill Burn's Cafeteria and those interested in attending are to make reservations with the secretary, Mary Hiller at 876-7401, it was announced.

Romans 12:2 "...And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind: that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God."

We fill our hearts with God. We must fill our minds with God. You cannot get too close to God! You cannot be too religious. God is God. He always will be God!

Everything about God is positive. God is a doer, a worker, a mover. He makes things happen. Think of God. Think of miracles. Do not be confined by tradition or the old cliché, we've always done it this way. It was said of Jesus, never man spoke like this: He was different!

You and renew your mind and refresh your spirit by meditating upon the Word of God. You can prove what is that good and acceptable, and perfect, will of God!

ASK ME ABOUT TV

DOUBLE HEADER — In the series "Buck Rogers in the 20th Century," was Chad Everett in a segment in which they were being taken away by a vampire? Also, was Clint Walker in the John Wayne movie, "The Green Berets"? — Brenda Tompkins, Kelso, Wash.

Chad was not in that show; he is back on TV in his own series, "Hagen," on CBS. Chris Stone was in the guest cast, perhaps he is the one you thought was Chad. Big Clint was not in "The Green Berets"; the late Jim Hutton was, however.

Earth Day April 22 to stress energy, resource conservation

Ten years ago, this nation celebrated the first Earth Day, a nationwide teach-in that stands as the largest peaceful demonstration in American history. On April 22, state and national celebrations of Earth Day '80 will take place, commemorating the 10th anniversary of the original Earth Day.

Earth Day '80 will mark the environmental progress of the past decade and offer a look at the challenges of the next.

The Illinois State Museum, at the corner of Spring and Edwards in Springfield, will serve as the host facility for Earth Day '80 in Downstate Illinois, with the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources serving as the sponsoring agency.

Sandra McAvoy, coordinator for Illinois Earth Day '80, comments, "Many of the events planned for Illinois are reminiscent of the 1970 event."

"People of all walks of life are joining the ranks of Earth Day '80 — school children, teachers, environmentalists, campus groups, public interest groups, state agencies, and businesses are all taking part."

"In Springfield," said Dr. Basil Hedrick, assistant director of the Illinois State Museum and coordinator of Earth Day activities in Springfield, "emphasis will be given to the accomplishments in environmental concerns of many state agencies over the past decade."

Under the sponsorship of the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources, several state agencies will come together to share their work and developments in the area of environmental concerns.

"Some of the agencies involved in Earth Day '80 include the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, Illinois Department of Transportation, Illinois State Geological Survey, Illinois State Natural History Survey, Illinois Institute of Natural Resources and Illinois State Museum."

These agencies working in tandem with the Illinois Environmental Council have planned many activities.

There will be a ceremonial tree planting, a "heels and wheels" parade emphasizing alternative, non-motorized modes of transportation; film presentations, and a puppet show, "Take That, You Energy Monster."

Exhibits and booths from various state agencies will be on display at the museum throughout the day.

On the evening of April 22, the Scouts State Museum will open all of its facilities, including behind-the-scenes preparation areas, to the general public.

Mike McCabe, executive director of the National Citizens Committee for the Second Environmental Decade, said over 150 cities have already planned events, and more are reporting daily. "This shows that environmental values will be carried into the '80s," he emphasized.

"The message is one of commitment and hope. Citizens groups, businesses and state agencies working for a better environment will have their ranks swelled by the message of Earth Day '80."

"Earth Day '80 translates into a commitment to energy and resource conservation for the 1980s."

RECRUITER HONORED. Staff Sgt. Virgil Cupples, right, Army recruiting officer stationed at 3675 Nameoki Road, receives a "Top Urban Station" award from Lt. Col. Joseph M. Lukitsch, U.S. Army St. Louis district recruiting commander. The recruiting office here was named the top recruiting center in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri. Cupples was declared the top recruiter in the area.

College enrollment up at BAC and statewide

Enrollment at Illinois community colleges during the fall numbered 321,653, a slight increase over the fall term enrollment of the previous year.

An Illinois Community College Board analysis indicates that a majority of students now enrolled on the state's 51 community college campuses are in occupational or technical programs.

Another 28.5 percent of community college students are in baccalaureate programs with intent to transfer to a four-year college or university.

Three out of four community college students now attend college on a part-time basis. This represents the highest percentage of part-time enrollment ever experienced in the Illinois public college system.

Nearly 56 percent of all community college students are women. This is also the highest percentage of female enrollment in the history of Illinois community colleges.

A higher ratio of minorities is enrolled in community colleges than in most four-year colleges and universities.

WINDOWS BROKEN
Two windows in the office building of Rite Electric Co., 22nd Street and Lee Avenue, were broken Monday. One of the windows apparently was shot out.

The median age of community college students is nearly 25 years. One of every six community college students in Illinois is over 40 years of age.

According to the report, one in every 20 community college students is over 55 and many of these are retired senior citizens.

Belleville Area College student characteristics bear out that, locally, the same kinds of patterns exist.

Fifty-five percent, or 6,045, of the students enrolled at BAC are women, compared to the state's 56 percent.

Seventy-eight percent of BAC students are part-time. Their median age is almost 25, with 2,724 under the age of 21; 4,346 between 21 and 30; 1,996 between 31 and 39; and 1,942 above the age of 40. Of that number, 458 are over 55 and 294 are over the age of 60.

Although no spring enrollment figures will be released at Belleville Area College until mid-term, it appears that the college is experiencing its highest enrollment in the 33-year history of BAC.

Public information director Doris Slocum comments that figures other than mid-term are "pretty meaningless" since the college receives its state funding based on the number of students enrolled at mid-term.

Veizer warns against 'census' phone calls

A warning that 1980 census information is not to be obtained by telephone has been issued by Chief of Police Ronald Veizer, who said at least one attempt to obtain personal information in such a manner has been reported to the police department.

Veizer said an unidentified woman called to report her elderly mother had been phoned by a person representing herself as a census taker. The caller asked a number of personal questions including the bank the elderly woman patronizes and the amount of money in her bank account, Veizer said.

"Everyone should be aware that no census information is to be taken by telephone," the police chief said, adding that "any telephone call of this type is an obvious attempt to obtain personal information for illegal use."

Veizer noted that census information will be taken by persons calling at the homes, or by mail. Census canvassers will carry credentials, including a card and portfolio.

$505 loot taken in house theft

Items having a total value of $505 were taken from the home of Dean Aerne, 2020 Twelfth St., it was reported at 6 p.m. Monday.

A kitchen window was broken by a burglar, who drank a can of soda taken from the refrigerator.

Missing were a camera, an Acutron diver's watch, a digital alarm clock and a quantity of change.

8 seek 3 positions on BAC board

Balloting will occur in 99 precincts throughout Belleville Area College's 2,000-square-mile district on April 12 to elect three board members.

Two three-year terms and one one-year term will be filled by the voters on that Saturday. Eight candidates filed.

Incumbents Curt Eckert and Avery Schermer filed for the three-year terms, and incumbent Elizabeth Jenner filed for the one-year term.

Others who have filed nominating petitions are: for three-year terms — Everett Sakosko and Norman W. Sheble; for the one-year term — Michael Hildebrand, Ronald Krause and Ronald Hageman.

Knollman named league chairman

Members of the Madison-Jersey County Savings Association League elected new officers for the 1980-1981 year at their monthly meeting in March.

Dave Knollman from First Granite City Savings and Loan Association was elected chairman; Bob Chappell, First Federal Savings and Loan of East Alton, was elected vice chairman; and Bob Helmkamp of Citizens Savings and Loan Association, East Alton, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The savings and loan association members meet once each month to discuss items of mutual interest and new or changing regulations governing the savings and loan business.

New group offers engineering, technical, consulting services

As was disclosed during the winter by the Press-Record, the appointment of Dr. Donald F. Cairns to the newly-created position of president, National Engineers and Associates, a recently-formed unit of National Steel Corporation, was formally announced Monday in Pittsburgh by R. Milton Deaner, vice president-engineering for National Steel.

Headquartered in St. Louis, National Engineers and Associates is a full-service engineering, technical and consulting organization offering access to National Steel's know-how in operating, maintenance, and management of advanced technology.

Dr. Cairns was formerly a vice-president of the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp. in Granite City.

He is a graduate of the University of Illinois, where he majored in civil engineering, and of St. Louis University, where he was conferred the degrees of master of business administration and doctor of philosophy.

Cairns began his steel industry career at Granite City Steel in 1956 as a project engineer.

He progressed through assignments as plant engineer and assistant to the president, and was elected a vice-president in 1971.

Dr. Cairns has extensive experience in engineering, construction management, and general management. He is a member of the American Iron and Steel Institute, Association of Iron and Steel Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, Air Pollution Control Association, and National Society of Professional Engineers.

In addition, he is a registered professional engineer in Illinois and Missouri.

Dr. Cairns has designed several innovative installations in the fields of environmental control of iron and steel processing. He is co-inventor of a system for control of coke pushing emissions, first utilized at Granite City Steel's blast furnace plant.
